DR. TOWNSEND SAYS HIS PLAN YIELDS MILLION

Forms 8,000 Clubs and Live Working Organization Throughout United States.

THRONG IN ROOM DWINDLES

Bathing Beauties and Liquor Mentioned in Connection With Capital Caravan.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 20—Dr. F. E. Townsend told a house investigating committee today that "in the neighborhood of a million dollars" has been collected by the Townsend old age pension organization since its inception.

Asked what the contributors received in return, Dr. Townsend said they "got our organization which is exactly what they paid for."

"We have 8,000 clubs throughout the country and a live working organization," Dr. Townsend said.

Incorporated In 1934

Old Age Revolving Pensins, Inc., was incorporated early in 1934.

In contrast to the crowd which packed the hearing room yesterday, there were only about a hundred spectators on hand when the session opened for Dr. Townsend's second day on the stand.

James R. Sullivan, committee counsel said there would be "startling testimony."

Sullivan brought out in questioning that Walter, known as "Sparkplug" Wernbold, who headed the "Townsend caravan" when it left California for Washington, was relieved of his leadership in Oklahoma.

Sullivan asserted "bathing beauties" were on caravan cars when they left California and that Gomer Smith, Oklahoma Townsend director, spent $1,100 of Townsend funds for "the water" for Indians in Oklahoma.

Told of "Difficulties"

Dr. Townsend said he knew nothing of what happened to the caravan in Oklahoma except he understood "there were some difficulties."

Smith, Sullivan explained, is a Townsend candidate for the United States senate from Oklahoma. He contended Townsend funds were being used to "build up" Smith's candidacy.

The doctor's willingness to engage in give-and-take with committee members enlivened yesterday's hearing.

Rising to his feet at one point, the lean, bespectacled pension leader, not only denounced the committee for its "unfriendly attitude" but asserted the administration was a "hostile force" behind the congressional inquiry.

He followed that shot with several more directed at the two old political parties and then announced he would form a third party after the November elections.

Won't Support Either Side

He told reporters after the hearing that his organization would not support either the Democratic or Republican presidential candidates, but would concentrate on the election of congressional candidates in both parties who favor his plan.

When he was questioned at the hearing regarding large sums contributed by Townsend club members, the physician said the contributors had faith in him and that "we need millions to promote a movement of this kind and we will get them."

His testimony developed that Dr. Townsend, his brother Walter Townsend, and Gilmour Young, own the assets of the Townsend organization estimated now at about $60,000 and that Townsend club members have no property rights in them.

ASKS COURT TO FREE BROTHERS

Judge, However, Declines To Direct Verdict of Acquittal in Case.

RULES LAW NOT OBSERVED

Prosecution Rests in Trial of Former Conservation Department Accountant.

Judge John R. King of the Franklin county criminal court overruled a motion for a directed verdict of acquittal late this morning in the trial of Frank L. Brothers, former Marion man, charged with embezzling $13,000 from the state conservation department, The Associated Press reported.

Counsel for Brothers, who formerly was chief accountant in the department, contended the prosecution had failed to prove the charge. The court held, however, that Brothers had not observed a law requiring public officers to deposit public funds in their charge with the state treasurer each Monday. Brothers is accused of having deposited state funds in his own account.

John W. Seidensticker, president of the Market Exchange bank of Columbus, testified Brothers opened a personal account Feb. 14, 1931, and closed it March 23, 1935. The witness said bank records did not list to whom checks on the account were drawn. He testified that Brothers had control of an account of the conservation division which was opened 15 days before Brothers made the personal deposit.

The defense presented several character witnesses including A. W. Brown of Marion.

Prosecution Rests

The prosecution rested its case yesterday afternoon.

DAVEY TO PRESENT NEW RELIEF MEASURE

Asks Both Houses To Assemble in Joint Session To Hear His Message.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 20 — Gov. Martin L. Davey asked both houses of the Ohio general assembly to convene in a joint session tonight to hear his plea for a new program to aid the state's needy.

Gov. Davey said he would ask the legislature to liberalize the present law to permit grants to counties on the basis of need and to authorize them to issue notes in anticipation of utility excise tax revenues.

When he signed the present law, providing for allocations on the basis of 1933 relief expenditures, he characterized it as "atrocious."

The governor declared that while he had no estimate of the amount needed for relief for the rest of the year, he believed $7,500,000 would be available if the note issue were provided.

It would produce $2,000,000, he said, to be added to $1,000,000 left in funds appropriated from the general revenue fund, $1,500,000 from sales tax revenues, and $3,000,000 left in the rotary relief fund.

MARION MOTHER OF 2 CHILDREN ONE OF VICTIMS

Mrs. Mildred Lucille Sauer, 23, Killed Instantly as Car Hits Bus; Two Injured.

ONE IS HURT CRITICALLY

Gerald Sheldon Curl of Edison Dies in Morrow Co. Crash.

Two persons, one a 23-year-old mother, were killed and two injured, one critically, in automobile accidents last night in the vicinity of Marion.

The dead are Mrs. Mildred Lucille Sauer of 325 Holmes place and Gerald Sheldon Curl of Edison. Mrs. Sauer was killed when the car in which she was riding collided with a bus on the Kenton road, a short distance west of Marion. Curl, widely known as a high school athlete, was killed in an accident near Edison.

The injured are Alexander Lambrose, critically, and Miss Florence Armbruster, companions of Mrs. Sauer.

Mother of Two Children Killed

A 23-year-old mother of two small children, Mrs. Mildred Lucille Sauer of 325 Holmes place, was killed instantly at 12:35 a. m. today when the automobile in which she was a passenger crashed head-on into a large inter-state bus on the Kenton road, near the city limits, and two other persons in the car were injured, one critically. Mrs. Sauer's skull and neck were fractured.

The automobile, a new coupe, was driven by Alex Lambrose, 30, of 457 Silver street, manager of the LaMar restaurant at 526 West Center street, who was critically injured. Miss Florence Armbruster, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Armbruster of 406 Park street, the third passenger in the coupe, suffered a deep gash in her scalp, a broken right arm and bruises.

Mr. Lambrose suffered a skull fracture which necessitated removal of a part of the bone in an operation later at the City hospital, a gash to his lip that extends into the nasal cavity, and severe bruises. The attending physician said today he regarded his condition as critical. X-ray examinations were to be made this afternoon.

Eyewitnesses of the accident, including John Rush of Marion who followed the Lambrose car for some distance, and a passenger sitting in the front seat of the bus, exonerated the bus driver of any blame for the accident, state highway patrolmen who made an investigation said.

Driver Gives Account

The driver of the Pittsburgh-Chicago bus, Howard Tatro of Ft. Wayne, Ind., told highway patrolmen that he say a car approaching from the west which appeared to be weaving across the road, and that as the car and bus drew near the car was traveling on the wrong side of the road.

Hoping to avoid a collision, the bus driver set the airbrakes and pulled across to the left side of the road, skidding the rear wheels for a distance of 14 feet or more, and drove at about 15 miles per hour with the left wheels of the bus several feet off the edge of the highway.

As the bus came to virtually a stop, the driver of the car swung across the road and crashed head-on into the bus, crumpling the right front fender of the bus, damaging the radiator, and loosening the right bumper.

The car, driven by Mr. Lambrose, was demolished by the force of the collision. The motor was shoved under the dash board, the radiator was pushed to the side of the right door, and every window was shattered.

State Patrolmen Ray Stuart and Bob Curtis said Walter Miles of Columbus, a passenger on the bus, told them the driver did "everything possible" to avoid the collision, and John Rush of Marion, said he had followed the Lambrose car for about half a mile and that it had been weaving back and forth across the road.

Neither Mr. Lambrose nor Miss Armbruster were in a condition to talk of the accident, the patrolmen said, and their statements of the accident will not be taken until later.

Help Remove Injured

County School Change Proposals Get Hearing

Opposition Raised at Meeting Last Night Against Suggested Dissolution of Several Districts.

The Marion county board of education at a public hearing last night in the east assembly hall in Harding High school discussed several changes recommended in the redistricting of the county system. Approximately 200 attended the hearing.

The changes, based on a resolution adopted by the board on March 21, call for dissolution of the Marion township, Grand Prairie township and Morral school districts. The recommendations in the resolution, school officials said, were made in compliance with the state school foundation law which requires that each year the board make a survey of the school system with a view to redistricting areas to promote efficiency, economy and convenience.

The hearing last night also was in compliance with the state law which requires that school patrons in the affected territories be given an opportunity to express their views before such changes are made.

Program Explained

Although there seemed to be a general impression at the meeting that schools in all three districts mentioned in the resolution might be closed, school officials explained today that it was the recommendation of the board that only the six one-room schools in Marion township be closed. Supt D. T. Mills said the only change in regard to Morral and Grand Prairie districts would be to dissolve the present districts and combine them into one district, keeping both school buildings open.

Closing the one-room buildings in Marion township would eliminate the last "little red school houses" in Marion county. At present six such schools are in operation in the county. They are: Smeltzer on the Prospect road with an enrollment of 26, Linn school on the Bucyrus road with an enrollment of 17, Campbell school on the Campbell road, west of Marion, with an enrollment of 31, Lawrence school, just east of Garfield park on route 30, with 26 pupils, Clark school on the Likens road, northeast of Marion, with 11 pupils, and Reber school on the Hillman-Ford road northwest of Marion with 28 pupils.

In explaining the purpose of the recommended changes, particularly in reference to elimination of the one-room schools, school officials today cited the following provisions of the state school laws:

"On or before the fifteenth day of October, 1935, and on or before the first day of July, 1936, 1937 and 1938, the county board of education shall submit an adopted plan for the reorganization of school districts within the county on the basis of economy and efficiency in the operation of the county schools.

"Unless the county board of education complies with each of the statutory requirements prescribed by law, no deductions may be made from the state public school fund for the budget submitted under the authority of section 7595-1 of the general code (section 7595-16, general code)."

Officials also explained that the

Guffey Offers Substitute for Invalid Coal Act

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 20—After hours of secret conferences, a substitute for the invalidated Guffey coal control act was drafted today and introduced in congress.

Price fixing constituted the heart of the new measure presented by Sen. Guffey, Democrat of Pennsylvania, author of the original act. It would seek to regulate the soft coal industry through the commerce clause of the constitution, eliminating the labor provisions on which the supreme court based its decision declaring the old law unconstitutional.

Whether White House support would be given the new bill, and whether it would be pressed for passage this session was not known immediately.

Plans for enactment of the new measure were said to call for repeal of the old act in its entirety.

Although the new bill is essentially the same as the original act with the unconstitutional labor provisions eliminated, it contains one significant change.

Under its terms, the national bituminous coal commission would consist of seven members, instead of five. Officials said this change was made to provide direct representation of both producers and miners. Three of the seven commissioners would have no interest or connection with the industry.

Upon passage of the new bill, President Roosevelt would be required to appoint a new commission and a new consumers' counsel.

The commission likewise would have to organize new district price-fixing boards in the existing 25 districts.

An identical bill was introduced in the house by Rep. Vinson, Democrat of Kentucky, on behalf of Rep. Snyder, Democrat of Pennsylvania, co-author of the invalidated act.

Guffey told the senate the new measure made such changes in the old act "as are necessary to meet the views of a majority of the supreme court."

LANDON TO GET 26 OF JERSEY'S 32 G. O. P. VOTES

Also Leads in Preferential Balloting by Pacing Sen. Borah Four-to-One.

TALLY 218,905 TO 56,801

Hoffman Drops from First to Fourth Place in Race for Delegate-at-Large Posts.

By The Associated Press

NEWARK, N. J., May 20—Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas was assured of at least 26 of New Jersey's 32 votes at the Republican national convention when returns from yesterday's primary were three-fifths complete today.

He also continued his sweep of the preferential voting, having a four-to-one advantage over U. S. Sen. William E. Borah of Idaho.

The preferential vote in 2,366 out of 3,575 election districts was: Landon 218,905, Borah, 56,801.

Has Four At Large

The four delegates-at-large and 22 of 28 district delegates—total of 26 votes—were pledged to Landon. Republican leaders still hoped to send a solid delegation to the Cleveland convention by winning with the two others delegates pledged to Landon and swinging the four unpledged delegates into line later.

Meanwhile interest turned anew to the fight of Gov. Harold G. Hoffman to retain his position as titular head of the Republican party in the state.

As the totals mounted, Hoffman dropped from first to fourth place in the five-sided contest for the four delegates-at-large posts.

Still Ahead of Fort

He was, however, running well ahead of Franklin W. Fort, who split Hoffman's vote with a bitter attack on the governor's activities in the case of Bruno Richard Hauptmann.

The tabulation showed: Edge, 264,125; Duffield, 192,317; Conklin, 182,106; Hoffman, 178,361; Fort, 136,373.

Col. Henry Breckinridge, lone entry on the Democratic preference ballot, polled a relatively small vote.

His total for the 2,366 districts was 25,171.

President Roosevelt, whose name was not on the ballot, got a sizable "write-in" vote which in places far exceeded that for Breckinridge. In Atlantic City 5,402 persons penciled in the name of the President while only 879 checked the name of Breckinridge.

United States Sen. W. Warren Barbour apparently was renominated by the Republicans. His opponent in the November election likely will be State Sen. William H. Smathers, Democratic organization candidate who held a large lead over former Assemblyman Theron McCampbell of Monmouth.

All of the present 14 congressmen, 10 Republican and 4 Democrats, were leading.

DILL DISMISSAL PLEA REJECTED

Motion To Drop Former Senator from Balm Suit Overruled by Court.

DEFENDANT WINS POINT

Judge Orders All Testimony Aimed To Link Solon to Illegal Operation Be Stricken.

By The Associated Press

MT. VERNON, O., May 20—Judge Phillip L. Wilkins overruled today a motion to dismiss a $25,000 alienation of affection suit against former U. S. Sen. Clarence C. Dill.

Judge Wilkins ordered, however, that virtually all the testimony intended to link Dill with arranging an alleged illegal operation, as charged by his niece by marriage, Mrs. Margie Heston Dill, be stricken from the record.

Included In Charges

Dill was charged jointly with his sister-in-law, Mrs. Grace Dill, attorney Fredericktown, O., resident, with alienating the affections of Mrs. Margie Dill's husband, Wendill Dill, who is the son of Mrs. Grace Dill.

Attorney L. C. Stillwell, defense counsel, contended in submitting the motion yesterday that no evidence had been introduced to link the former senator with the charge.

Judge Wilkins ordered elimination of testimony by 20-year-old Margie Dill in which she quoted Mrs. Grace Dill as saying Clarence C. Dill furnished a list of "four or five names" from which a woman was selected to perform the alleged operation.

Says Ties Broken

Margie Dill contends she underwent the operation in Washington, D. C., a month after she and Wendell Dill eloped to Wheeling, W. Va., in May 1934. She asserts it was arranged to break any ties with her husband.

The judge also instructed the jury of eight women and four men

DRASTIC STEP PROPOSED TO CUT EXPENSES

Defeat of 3.2 Mills Levy Forces City To Sharp Retrenchment Move.

ACTION DUE THURSDAY

Committees and Mayor Draw Up Recommendations for Special Council Meeting.

Layoff of 11 firemen and nine policemen and other economies are part of a program agreed on last night by city council franchise and ordinance committees and Mayor Frederick C. Smith to enable the city to live within its income in face of defeat of the 3.2-mill city levy at the May 12 primary.

The program will be recommended to council for immediate adoption at a special meeting Thursday night, the officials said.

Mayor Smith said the total cost of operating the city in 1936 under this program would be approximately $30,000 less than the amount spent for municipal operations in 1935. If the 3.2-mill levy had been approved by voters, municipal operating costs for the year would have been reduced only $30,000 under the 1935 expenditures, he estimated.

Speedy Action Likely

If the program meets immediate approval of council, it probably will be adopted as an emergency measure and the layoffs made effective at once.

The proposed reductions in personnel would leave 21 firemen and eight policemen in the city's employ, the smallest forces in many years.

If the proposed elimination of firemen is made, the city probably will face an increase in fire insurance rates in the commercial and industrial sections of the city. Mayor Smith said last night he felt certain any insurance rate increase that would result from the layoffs would not affect residential fire rates.

Those familiar with the methods used by the National Board of Fire Underwriters in their periodic determination of fire rates for different cities estimated this morning that industrial and commercial fire insurance rates might increase approximately $30,000 a year if the proposed layoff of firemen is made permanent.

Thorough Study Made

Mayor Smith said the program was arrived at after a thorough study as the "only possible way" to bring 1936 expenditures of the city within the $222,000 in sight for the year. Even with the layoffs and other proposed reductions, including elimination of $3,000 worth of sewer flushing, reduction of City hospital appropriations by a margin of $2,000 and the appropriation of $3,600 previously held as a reserve for unanticipated emergencies, there may be a slight deficit at the end of 1936, he said. If was felt, he explained, that reductions agreed on last night "went as far as we could go in 1936," and that any deficit this year will have to be made up next year.

The program provides for payment of firemen and policemen remaining after the layoffs and for all city officials on an 85 per cent of full pay basis for the remainder of the year, beginning June 1, in the place of the present 55 per cent of full salaries. Also, it contemplates restoration of salaries for February, March, April and May to a 70 per cent basis instead of the 55 per cent basis on which officials and employes were paid for those months. The January payments on a 90 per cent basis will not be changed.

Had the levy been passed, all salaries for 1936 would have been paid on an 85 per cent of full pay basis.

Personnel Cut Preferred

Last night's program would have virtually the same effect as continuation of the present 55 per cent salary basis throughout 1936. Officials explained several reasons for agreeing on personnel reductions in the place of attempting to continue the 55 per cent salary basis.

One is that the 55 per cent pay basis now in effect is purely voluntary—officials and employes could make valid legal claims against the city for full payment of their salaries. Officials said firemen and policemen and other employes and officials had indicated a willingness to accept salaries on an 85 per cent basis but had not consented to accept the present 55 per cent pay as full payment for their services.

Another is that a 55 per cent pay basis is unreasonably low. Officials present last night expressed the opinion that a reduction in personnel would be preferable to an attempt to continue the 55 per cent pay basis. They said they did not feel justified in asking officials and employes to

GALE DESTROYS SCIOTO ONIONS

Heavy Wind Sweeps Up Pall of Dust and Uproots Hundreds of Acres.

Special to The Star

KENTON, O., May 20—Scioto marsh onion growers today faced a complete reorganization of farm practices for 1936 following the heaviest sandlar loss in recent years.

A near-gale yesterday swept a pall of dust out of the rich muck district, taking with it the aspirations of a majority of the growers. Hundreds of acres of tender onion plants were uprooted, at a total loss. It is too late to reseed to onions and almost too late to prepare for corn, growers said.

Heavy losses were suffered in some sections of the marsh in Sunday's high wind but today's gale added the finishing touches in many instances. Allen Edwards, manager for the New York Coal Co. farm, said the company lost 50 acres of onions Sunday and that the wind tore out 20 additional acres of the tearful vegetable yesterday.

The high wind that raged throughout yesterday was too strong for rows of hastily erected burlap fences, willow rows and other windbreaks to cope with. Many acres were sheltered but others, too far from the rows, felt the full sting of the breeze.

Houses were filled with the choking black dust and the clouds of fertile muck soil could be seen as far east as Kenton, nine miles from the edge of the Scioto marsh district.

SENATORS APPROVE NEW "WINDFALL" TAX

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 20—In its first decisive action on the tax bill, the senate finance committee today approved in modified form an 80 per cent "windfall" tax on processors who escaped payment of the old AAA processing taxes.

The changes were designed largely to make the tax less stringent in its application. One would make the levy inapplicable if a processor showed a loss in the commodities to which the processing taxes applied over an entire taxable year.

Today's decision partly cleared the way for the committee to tackle the heart of the bill—the corporation tax angle. It expected to reach this later in the day.

BILL TO BAR RAISES AT BUCYRUS VETOED

BUCYRUS, May 20—For the second time since taking office two years ago, Mayor George M. Birk exercised his right to veto when he returned unsigned the ordinances passed by the city council two weeks ago, which provided for a recall of salary increases to three city employes. The ordinances were returned to the council body Tuesday night in regular session.

The ordinances, which provided that council reconsider raises given to safety director, service director and the city clerk, were passed by city council after a storm of protest from taxpayers.

As the legislation now stands, Service Director R. L. Hertzer stands to receive an increase of from $1,480 to $1,679; Safety Director G. Goldsmith, a 100 per cent increase of from $600 to $1,200 and City Clerk H. A. Barth an increase of $250 annually.

In returning the ordinance unsigned, Mayor Birk stated that he had disapproved the salary cuts made in every city department in April, 1934, and recommended that all salaries be readjusted as soon as possible.

Other matters that came before council during Tuesday night's session, which lasted only 34 minutes, included a vote, authorizing the Service Director to advertise for bids for the lease of Bucyrus city airport.

The college president said Somers, a Taft school graduate, used a .25 caliber pistol.

THEFT OF $50 FROM RESIDENCE REPORTED

Discovery Made After $2 in Purse Found Missing; Other Burglaries.

Burglary of a Marion residence Friday and two other thefts Monday night, were reported to police late yesterday. Fifty-two dollars was taken from the residence of Mrs. Emma Smith at 580 Girard avenue, burglarized early Friday night. The time of the theft was determined by Mrs. Smith, who said she had not been away from home from that time until the burglary was discovered early Monday. A small leather suit case, in which the $50 was hidden was also taken and the other $2 was taken from a woman's purse. The money in the purse was found missing Saturday, but was thought to have been mislaid. Police who investigated were unable to discover how entrance was made.

A garage at the residence of P. M. Sage of 811 Girard avenue was entered Monday night and gasoline symphoned from his car. A four-foot section was cut from a garden hose, stored in the garage, and used as a syphon.

PROPOSE DRASTIC CITY EXPENSE CUT

sign waivers accepting .55 per cent as "full pay for services."

Speaking for the group at last night's meeting, Mayor Smith said, "We have no choice but to accept Tuesday's defeat of the levy as a mandate to live within the present income in sight for the year. This is the only way we can do it. These drastic economies are unpleasant for all of us. Still, they will only permit us to live approximately within our income this year. They don't clear the way for payment of any of the $69,000 operating deficit we inherited the first of the year whereas the levy would have paid the deficit and made these curtailments unnecessary."

No Definite Plans Made

It was not immediately apparent what firemen and policemen would be removed from the departments if the program is adopted by council. City officials said civil service rules and regulations would have to be studied to determine this.

The 21 firemen that would be left in the fire department would provide two shifts of only two men each at the West Side and Mark street stations and leave two shifts of six each, plus the chief, at the Central station.

Those present at last night's meeting, held in the mayor's office, are Mayor Smith, Council President Snare, City Clerk Harry Brookshire and Councilmen R. H. Stief, Hayse Rogers, Harry Cahill and W. M. Fabian, members of the council finance committee and franchise and ordinance committee.

The curtailment program drawn up last night is the only solution of the municipal finance problem discussed by officials in view of the levy's defeat, excepting for the possibility of refunding bonds.

Although refunding was not discussed, Mayor Smith previously had explained the possibility to council. In mentioning it several weeks ago, he said he regarded it as an unsound way of raising operating funds.

Opposes Bond Idea

He renewed his criticisms of refunding bonds this morning, saying it would add to the city's bonded debt. The debt, he said, is the primary cause of the city's present troubles because most of the tax money the city gets must be used to pay off bonds. To refund bonds would aggravate the cause of the present trouble instead of helping to solve it, he said.

Mayor Smith expressed the opinion the public would be as much opposed to refunding bonds as to the proposed levy that was defeated May 12. He said he probably would explain his opinions on refunding bonds in detail at Thursday night's council meeting.

The refunding of bonds to provide more operating revenue was made possible by legislation adopted by the state legislature last year, officials said. Under this act, the city might be able to meet part of its debt bonds falling due next year by issuing new bonds. This, it was explained, would enable the city to use for operating purposes the money it had planned to use to meet bond payments next year. The city would not have opportunity under the act to refund bonds falling due next September. General bonds falling due next year that might be refunded amount to $126,000.

The proposed layoff of nine policemen was deplored this morning by Police Chief William E. Marks. Chief T. J. McFarland of the fire department said he did not care to comment on the proposal until it came before council for final action.

Chief Marks said the Marion police department already is one of the smallest in proportion to the city's population of any of a group of 175 cities in the United States in which the populations ranges between 25,000 and 50,000. If nine men are laid off, Marion's ratio of policemen to population will become the lowest for this size city in the nation, he said. He also added that Marion is the only city in Ohio in its population bracket in which policemen work 12-hour shifts, while other cities operating on an eight-hour-a-day basis. Only 12 cities in the United States work their policemen 12 hours a day, he said.

Widow of Poet Pleads for Help To Retain Farm

By The Associated Press

ST. LOUIS, May 20—The 80-year-old widow of a gay poet, whose "Little Boy Blue" has delighted American children for four decades, today called on friends and admirers of her late husband to help her save her Wisconsin farm from foreclosure.

Mrs. Eugene Field, whom most of the world, including close students of her husband's works, supposed to be dead, sent an appeal from a sick-bed at Hefford Junction, Wis., for a loan of $3,000 to prevent confirmation of a mortgage sale which would take her 160-acre farm from her.

Through her son, Eugene II, she made known her plight in a letter to Jesse P. Henry of St. Louis, foremost collector of "Fieldiana" and leader in a campaign to restore Field's boyhood home here as a shrine.

"It might be possible to find someone in St. Louis who would advance $3,000 which would give mother time to refinance her property here," the younger Eugene Field wrote.

He said he had invested all her money here, about $50,000, and that her dilemma was a result of being unable to obtain a loan.

Henry said the statements in Field's letter were true.

"This letter was my first intimation that Mrs. Field was even living," Henry said. "I had supposed she was dead many years ago."

The Missouri-born poet married pretty Miss Julia Sutherland Comstock of St. Joseph, Mo., in 1873.

RHODE ISLAND SENATOR DISPUTES FARLEY CLAIM

Declares Predictions of Victory Prompted by Fear of Defeat in Elections Next November.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 20—Sharp word battles today quickened the pre-convention campaign pace.

Participating in a double-barrelled argument were Chairman James A. Farley of the Democratic national committee, Sen. Metcalf, Republican of Rhode Island, Chairman Henry P. Fletcher of the Republican national committee and John H. Fahey, chairman of the federal home loan bank board.

Metcalf, in an open letter to Farley today, disputed the latter's prediction, made in the senator's home states yesterday, that President Roosevelt would be reelected.

Fahey, in a letter to Fletcher, assailed the Republican chairman's recent assertion that the operations of the Home Owners Loan Corp. constituted "a debt obligation saddled on every family." Fahey predicted that the government will suffer no losses whatever as the result of HOLC operations.

Answering Farley's address before the Democratic State convention at Providence, Sen. M... said in his letter today:

JOBLESS INSURANCE DEBATED IN SENATE

Committee To Hear Lawyers Who Claim All Bills So Far Are Unconstitutional.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 30—Further debate on proposed unemployment insurance bills started today as a special senate committee studying the question prepared to draft a new bill for presentation.

A committee of lawyers, headed by B. F. Harwitz of Middletown, came to argue that all bills proposed so far were unconstitutional, as well as the federal social security act, while former State Rep. Horace S. Keiter of Springfield was scheduled to reply.

Keiter told the senate committee last night that the only question was whether Ohio would have an unemployment insurance law and reap its benefits or see the money paid in federal taxes merely go for general operating expenses.

Ohio employers, he said, already have lost $6,500,000 in taxes they will pay next January because of delay in passing a law.

Arguing for the Boyd-Hunter bill, Keiter declared unemployment insurance was "the best antidote for communism and socialism."

Thomas J. Donnelly, secretary of the Ohio State Federation of Labor, also urged enactment of the house-passed Boyd-Hunter bill, which would provide for the pool plan of insurance.

Robert Scott of Cambridge, representative of several large coal companies, indorsed Donnelly's stand, but T. C. Sperry of Toledo and Bruce Winsholt of Youngstown, representatives of the Ohio Council of Merchants, opposed it.

COURT IS ASKED TO ACQUIT BROTHERS

vert any of the funds to his own use, but that they "all went for state materials."

Before completing its case the prosecution placed in evidence 26 checks, totaling $6,727, and slips showing deposits of like amounts to Brothers' "personal account" in the Market Exchange Bank in Columbus.

Other checks, which the prosecution produced Monday and had identified, were not offered in evidence.

Testimony that some of the funds were expended for "rather expansive parties" for "various sportsmen's organizations," was given to the jury of seven woman and five men yesterday by Colin Mechlin, state examiner.

Concerning a conversation he had with Brothers, Mechlin testified:

"I said 'How about some parties that you were on?' He said 'What parties?'. I said, 'Well, you tell me what parties. You had some parties over here at the Nell House. You threw some rather expensive parties did you not?'

"He said, 'Yes, there were some parties over there for various sportsmen's organizations and they needed liquor and so forth.' He said, 'I had to furnish that.' He said, 'Well now, these parties that organizations would come in, various groups for the divisions of conservation.'"

Mechlin continued:

"I said, 'Well, Frank, you had quite a good-sized bill over there at the Nell House.' I said, 'They certainly wouldn't be bills of the state; you wouldn't consider it as bills.' Well, he said, 'What else could I do but what Mr. Reinhart (former conservation director) told me to do?'"

Reinhart has been summoned by the prosecution as a rebuttal witness.

Frank W. Forsythe, secretary of the civil service commission, told of Brothers' appointment to office, and E. G. Zang, identified deposit slips for the checks.

COUNTY SCHOOL CHANGE PROPOSALS GET HEARING

changes cannot be made unless a majority of patrons in the affected territories give their approval. The law provides, officials said, "that such changes shall not take effect if a majority of the qualified voters residing in the affected territory shall within 30 days of the time such changes are ordered file a written remonstrance against it."

Transfer Plans Deferred

No definite plan has been worked out for transfer of Marion township pupils to other schools in case the one-room buildings are eliminated, officials said today. This matter will be left to the school patrons. Pupils may be sent to Marion city schools or to other rural schools in adjacent districts. Because of the latter possibility, patrons in the adjacent districts were asked to attend the hearing last night.

Elimination of the one-room schools would place Marion township in the same position as Bowling Green and Richland townships, both of which have lost their identities as school districts. Richland township pupils now attend Claridon, Waldo and Cardington schools while Bowling Green pupils attend LaRue school. These changes were made when the one-room buildings were abandoned several years ago.

The purpose of eliminating small school districts, Supt. Mills said today, is to meet the standards of the state department of education which aims to have at least 180 grade pupils and the same number of high school pupils in each building.

Explained by President

S. L. Almendinger of Prospect, president of the county board, presided over the meeting. At the outset he explained that the meeting was being held in accordance with law which requires that school patrons be given an opportunity to express themselves regarding any proposals to redistrict their school territories.

Mr. Almendinger also explained that the proposal to redistrict these schools was made in an effort to comply with provisions of the state school foundation law under which schools are now receiving a large share of their operating revenue.

"Whether or not this program is carried out depends entirely on you," Mr. Almendinger told the school patrons. "The county board has no intention of trying to force this proposal on you. There is one thing you should understand, however, and that is that unless the schools meet the requirements of the state foundation law, the local districts face the possibility of being denied by the state department of education the right to participate in the foundation funds," he said.

The redistricting proposal was placed before the meeting when Mr. Almendinger aked Supt. Mills to read from the minutes of the board's meeting on March 21 the resolution reccommending the changes.

While the chairman did not formally call for a vote to determine the sentiment of the meeting, it was plainly evident that the large majority of those present were opposed to the proposed changes in Marion township.

Attorney Seeks Information

When the chairman called for expressions of opinions from the audience, John H. Clark, Marion attorney who said he represented a number of Marion township school patrons, asked what the board proposed to do with pupils of these one-room schools in case the districts were dissolved.

Mr. Almendinger answered that no definite program had been worked out.

Mr. Clark then explained that he wished to learn how many persons in the audience were interested chiefly in the Marion township school question. When he called for a show of hands approximately 75 responded. He then called for a show of hands from the Marion township delegation to determine how many wanted their school districts left as they are at present. As near as could be determined approximately the same number responded as on the first call. Mr. Clark then called for a show of hands from those who favored dissolution of the districts. There were no hands raised.

In continuing his remarks Mr. Clark said he gathered from reading the school laws that the three primary purposes of consolidating school districts was to promote efficiency, economy and convenience.

Defends 1-Room Schools

"As for the first reason," he said, "I have been told that pupils in the one-room schools of Marion township are on a par with pupils in other schools so far as scholarship is concerned. If this is true then the one-room schools must be efficient as the centralized schools.

"As for economy, I am aware that one of the strong arguments for centralized schools has been economy ever since the system was adopted, but when everything is taken into consideration it is hard to see where they are any more economical than the one-room schools.

"In regard to convenience, it is certainly more convenient for parents to have their children at school in their own communities than to have them hauled around in a school bus for an hour before getting to their buildings.

"I think it is a good thing for schools as well as government to be as locally controlled and decentralized as possible so long as the people are getting the advantages they should have," he concluded.

Predicts Fight

Warning that at least one district in Marion township will fight to keep its school was given by William Risch, president of the Marion township board of education. Mr. Risch lives in the Reber district.

"In the Reber district," Mr. Risch said, "we are opposed to any change and we are ready to fight to keep our school." His statement was greeted with loud applause.

Mr. Almendinger again reminded the audience that the matter of redistricting the schools rested with the school patrons. "Your decision, not the decision of the county board or the state director of education, is final. Control of school affairs will not be taken from you. But I think you should remember that you may deprive your schools of the right to share in the state funds," he said.

At this point a member of the audience, one of several who spoke briefly whose names were not learned, asked the floor. Addressing the chairman he said, "You say we will have control but if the state squeezes us out, who will have control then?" he asked. "This is a political issue and has been coming to a point for years," he declared, adding, "I dislike to see control of local school affairs taken away from the taxpayers."

Opposition Voiced

A spokesman for a Kirkpatrick delegation declared that residents of that community would object to any move to close their school.

The county board, he said, will come to some decision on the matter before July 1 when a report on the redistricting proposal is to be made to the state department. The matter is expected to come before the county board at a meeting May 28 at 8 p. m. in the superintendent's office in the Leetonia building.

CYCLIST FINED $100 ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Blair Isett Assessed Penalty in Municipal Court for Transporting.

Blair Isett, 25, of 617 Henry street was fined $100 and costs on a charge of transporting intoxicating liquor yesterday, and the motorcycle which police said he used to transport the liquor was confiscated. Isett pleaded guilty to the charge in municipal court shortly after his arrest Monday on North State street by Patrolman Henry Tong. Patrolman Tong, cruising in a police car, saw Isett riding the motorcycle and carrying a jug in one hand.

Pursuing Isett he hailed him near the city limits on North State street. The jug failed to break when Isett fell from the motorcycle as the police car crowded him to the side of the road and Isett smashed the container before the officer could reach it, Patrolman Tong said. A woman living nearby furnished a pan and the officer mopped up nearly a quart of the evidence with his handkerchief.

not to consider any statements by Margie Dill which tended to link Clarence C. Dill with the operation.

Wendell Dill told of his marriage to Margie Heaton Dill and entered a series of denials aimed at refuting charges in her suit against his mother and uncle.

Cites Revived Romance

He calmly described a revived romance, which developed into "improper relations" and their elopement to Wheeling, W. Va., in May, 1934, a day following their graduation from Fredericktown High school.

Wendell Dill denied that his mother or his uncle had anything to do with arranging the alleged operation and said he knew of no acts or statements by either which would alienate his affections from his young wife.

Appearing on the stand in the crowded courtroom natilly dressed, Wendell said his courtship with Margie resumed two to three months before their graduation.

"I had my first date (after they resumed going together) when the Hi-Y boys of Fredericktown High school gave a banquet for their mothers. The Girl Reserves, of which Margie was a member, were waiting on table and I took her home," Wendell said.

He testified that "improper relations" started the following Saturday night.

Visited Her Relatives

Some time later, Wendell Dill added, he and Margie went to visit Mr. and Mrs. Oren George, the girl's brother-in-law and sister, to discuss Margie's condition.

He quoted Margie as saying "we should get married."

"She didn't want me to leave for Washington and leave her here," testified Dill, who got a job in the senate building.

Wendell Dill said Oren George told him, "he wasn't going to see me leave for Washington and leave his sister-in-law here. That he was going to see I married her before I left."

He then told of arranging to elope to Wheeling, W. Va., with Margie and how upon his return he left her at her sister's home while he had a "dinner date."

Asks About "Affairs"

Concerning "certain affairs" which defense counsel contended Margie had while her husband was in Washington, Wendell Dill said:

"I asked her about affairs I heard she had been having, but she refused to make any comment and refused to say anything whatsoever about it.

"I told her if she wouldn't give me an explanation about this, I would seriously consider quitting and having nothing further to do with her."

He testified that he and Margie talked it over later with Mrs. Grace Dill and she advised them to "patch up your troubles."

L. C. Stillwell, defense attorney, indicated that because Judge Wilkins overruled the motion to dismiss the action against the former senator, the defense would require more time than was anticipated.

Stillwell, in asking dismissal of the 20-year-old stenographer's suit as to the former Washington senator, said he would not make a similar motion in behalf of the co-defendant, Mrs. Grace Dill.

Says Jury to Decide

Stillwell asserted the common pleas court jury of four men and eight women properly should decide whether Margie Dill's mother-in-law alienated the affections of Wendell but argued the evidence failed to connect Clarence Dill with the accusation.

The defense lawyer said he would require at the most only brief testimony from a few witnesses and added he might decide to rest without calling anyone to the stand. Opposing attorneys expected to make only short final arguments and speed the case to the jurors.

R. L. Carr, associated with Margie Dill's lawyer-employer, Barton Blair, as plaintiff's counsel, argued heatedly against eliminating former Sen. Dill from the case.

Carr listed, during his technical legal argument, Dill's asserted activities in his nephew's unsuccessful efforts to annul the marriage as the strongest "circumstantial link." The former senator insisted, as a plaintiff witness for cross-examination, that he sought to discourage the annulment proceedings.

Dill Protests Divorce Fees

By The Associated Press

SPOKANE, Wash., May 30—Former Sen. Clarence C. Dill, through attorneys, has protested in superior court here against paying attorneys' fees for his wife in a divorce action.

Dill seeks the divorce, charging his wife with desertion and cruelty. The case will be tried in June.

Mrs. Dill, the former senator's attorney stated, is worth between $500,000 and $1,000,000 and her mother's estate is "worth millions," and she is well able to pay the attorneys herself.

Mrs. Dill is the former Rosalie Gardner Jones of New York City, noted leader of women's rights a few years ago.

MINISTER AT LUCAS TRIED BY LUTHERANS

By The Associated Press

MANSFIELD, O., May 30—Rev. R. N. McMichael, pastor of the nearby Lucas parish, faced today a disciplinary committee of the Ohio Lutheran synod named to hear charges against him of "conduct incompatible with the moral purity of the ministerial office."

The synod selected 20 ministers and 10 lay delegates for the committee yesterday and this number will be reduced to 15 by 10 defense and five prosecution challenges as the hearing gets under way.

Dr. Joseph Sittler, president of the synod, brought the charges against Mr. McMichael, assertion that he remarried following a divorce in 1932 on grounds not recognized by the church.

The synod refused yesterday to dismiss the complaints against the minister on the petition of the congregations of two churches in his parish. The congregations recently refused to accept his resignation and gave him a vote of confidence.

Mr. McMichael was divorced in 1932 on a cross petition of his first wife, the former Mildred Snyder of Bucyrus. She alleged cruelty. The minister was serving an Ann Arbor, Mich., church at the time.

The synod reelected Earl Greiner of Zanesville, treasurer, and Dorner L. Keyser of Springfield, statistical secretary, yesterday. Terms of other officers carry through this session.

bulance took Mr. Lambrose and Mrs. Armbruster to the hospital and later removed the body of Mrs. Sauer to the Boyd funeral home on West Columbia street. Deputies William Wills and Gene Geissler from the sheriff's office assisted in making the investigation, and Prosecutor Paul D. Michel and Coroner M. F. Axtheim were at the scene of the accident a short time after it occurred.

The bus driver returned to Marion with the bus, which was one of five 33-passenger conveyances put into use 10 days ago by the Lincoln Trailways System which operates between Pittsburgh and Chicago. The passengers were taken to the Kumfort hotel for the night, and continued westward this morning. The Lambrose car was towed to the McDaniel garage, and the bus was driven to the same garage for repairs.

It is believed that Mr. Lambrose and his companions were returning to Marion from Kenton.

Dr. Axtheim said this morning Mrs. Sauer's death was due to a fracture of the skull and a fracture of the neck.

Mrs. Sauer was the wife of Floyd Sauer, Marion man who is being held in the Delaware county jail for Marion authorities in connection with a series of Marion robberies including the J. H. Malsh home in Vernon Heights. Arthur Hall, convicted in connection with the robberies is serving a sentence in the state penitentiary and William Beachem, the third member of the trio is being held in the Marion county jail. Marion county authorities separated Beachem and Sauer by placing Sauer in custody of Delaware county authorities.

Mrs. Sauer was born in Marion on Oct. 20, 1912, to Christopher Pine, a native of White Oaks, Va., and Elizabeth Massie Pine, a native of Lawrence county. Both parents are dead. She was married to Sauer on Nov. 1, 1930 in Marion.

Surviving are two small daughters, Carice Irene and Joy Elaine, two sisters, Mrs. Henry Hunt of 325 Holmes place with whom Mrs. Sauer lived, and Mrs. Ray Hickman of near Marion, and four brothers, Arthur, Leonard and James Pine of 561 North State street and Herbert Pine of 325 Holmes place.

The funeral will be conducted Saturday at 1:30 p. m. at the Hunt home and at 2 p. m. at the Emmanuel Baptist church. Rev. H. B. Twining, pastor, will officiate. Burial will be made in the Brush Ridge cemetery. The body may be viewed at the Boyd funeral home tonight and at the Hunt home after noon Thursday.

Edison School Athlete Killed

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, O., May 30 — Gerald Sheldon Curl, 16-year-old graduate basketball star and all-round athlete of Edison High school, was killed instantly last night at 9:30 when an automobile in which he and a companion were returning home from Mt. Gilead sideswiped a car driven by Orland Thomas of Edison, a half-mile east of Edison.

Curl, a passenger in a car driven by Charles Haserodt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Haserodt of Edison, was trapped in the car. Haserodt said he was following within 15 feet of the Thomas car, and that when Thomas signalled to turn left into the driveway of the Howard Masters home, he had no opportunity to stop and turned to go round the other car. Both were traveling west on Route 95.

As Haserodt turned, the cars collided and the front of the Thomas car threw the Haserodt car to the left and into a ditch. The Thomas car was only slightly damaged, and the Haserodt car was virtually demolished.

Haserodt was thrown from the car, but Curl was caught, his head pinned under the top, his skull and jawbone crushed. Haserodt's only injury was a cut on the hand. The Graven ambulance removed the body of Curl to Mt. Gilead and later to the H. H. Curl funeral home, Cardington.

Curl was graduated from Edison High school in 1934 with an outstanding record as an athlete, particularly in basketball. He had just recovered from a two weeks' illness of diphtheria and had returned Monday to his work at a grocery store in Mt. Gilead.

He was born May 26, 1918, Gilead township, Morrow county, to Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Curl. His parents are living and the father is a rural mail carrier out of Mt. Gilead.

Surviving with the parents are a sister, Mrs. Helen Fate of Mansfield, two brothers, Kenneth and Donald, both of Mansfield, and a grandmother, Mrs. Catharine Curl of Edison.

JUDGE DAY NABBED ON SPEEDING CHARGE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 20—Supreme Court Judge Arthur H. Day of Cleveland said yesterday he was arrested in Willoughby Monday for speeding, but denied an officer's charge he was going 60 miles an hour.

Judge Day said he was driving 45 miles an hour "at the most."

"Evidently the police officer was looking for some cheap publicity," Judge Day said.

The jurist is scheduled to appear before Mayor Cecil B. Todd May 25 to answer the charge, brought by Police Lieut. Preston Scott.

The Stars Say--

For Thursday, May 21

ALTHOUGH THERE may be opportunity for change or travel on this day, according to the planetary configurations, there also are omens of duplicity, fraud and misrepresentation with many pitfalls of which to be wary. This may be in the making of contracts or signing of documents or other writings, possibly in connection with rings, combines, closed corporations or secret organizations.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves immersed in a year of fraud, deception, trickery, snares and pitfalls, unless they are extremely cautious in signing papers or contracts, and shun litigation, quarrels and rash moves.

A child born on this day may be clever and original, but it may be carried away by impulse and do regrettable and questionable things.

OUTBOARD RACE GROUP FORMED

Judge Gast Elected Commodore of New Association Sponsoring Water Sports.

Judge Oscar Gast was elected commodore of the new Marion Outboard Racing association at an organization meeting Monday night. The association, open to racing drivers, mechanics and others interested in outboard motorboat racing, discussed plans for a regatta to be held on the Scioto river this summer and announced other activities.

Purpose of the association is to cooperate with the Scioto Beach club in conducting the annual speedboat races and plan another similar event. The association, members said, would be a non-profit organization using any receipts from a regatta for improving of the river.

Racing drivers from this district are planning to attend the Lake White regatta, Sunday, it was announced following the meeting. At least five drivers are expected to enter the race on Lake White, located two miles south of Waverly, O. New boats, constructed by drivers here, will receive their initial tests Thursday night.

A new class C racing engine, capable of developing from 28 to 32 horsepower, constructed by Aden Harrold of 131 Campbell street, a class C hydroplane, built by W. R. Horn of 224 West Pleasant street, and another class B hydroplane built by Horn and for Pat Dwyer of 805 Silver street, will take to the water for trial runs. Other members of the organization will have their boats on the river Thursday evening, among them D. J. Berry of Prospect, who recently purchased a new boat.

In addition to the commodore, the following racing committee was selected: Pat Dwyer, D. J. Berry, W. R. Horn, Aden Harrold and W. Wycoff of Marion, Raed E. Hughs and Thobern E. Carey of near Marion and Paul R. Hetzner and D. J. Berry of Prospect. K. J. Maxwell of Marion was elected secretary of the association and other members are Carl G. Hetzner of Prospect and Frank R. Harrold of Marion.

WOODDELL GIVES OK TO MARION CO. DAMS

Plans Soon Will Be Ready for Submission to WPA Officials.

Assurance that the Whetstone river dam project would receive the official sanction of the state conservation council has been given by Commissioner L. Wooddell, Roy Abel, president of the Marion County Fish and Game Protective association, announced following a conference with the commissioner. "With the approval of the conservation council, our plans are ready, except for several easements, to be submitted to WPA officials," Abel said. The remaining easements on the land affected by the project are expected to be obtained in a few days, after which we will be able to turn the plans over to the WPA officials, Able said.

The project, which calls for the construction of nine low-water conservation dams, on the Whetstone river between Waldo and Caledonia, will cost approximately $22,000. Labor cost will total about $17,000, for erecting the concrete dams, which will be from two to three and one-half feet in heighth. The fish and game association is sponsoring the project.

Commissioner Wooddell asked Mr. Abel to convey to sportsmen in this district the request of the commission that they refrain from working dogs during the nesting season of quail and pheasant. He pointed out that an unusually large number of persons have been running dogs and that the practice disturbs the birds during nesting season which extends from about May 1 to Aug. 1.

TIRE PLANT CLOSES AFTER LABOR FIGHT

Men Refuse To Leave Building Due to Non-Union Employe's Activities.

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., May 20—The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. closed its plant No. 2 today when between 1,500 and 2,000 men of the night shifts refused to leave the plant and make way for the day shift.

Goodyear's plant No. 2 employs about 6,000 persons on all four shifts. Work at the No. 1 plant continued without interruption.

Union spokesmen said the sudden "sitdown" protest was called because of the continued assignment of a non-union employe as leader of a crew of eight men in one of the tire pits.

There was no disorder at the plant. A large number of men from the oncoming day shift milled around the entrances of the closed plant.

The company asked members of the day shift to report back for work Thursday morning.

The closing of the Goodyear plant followed by a few hours a "sitdown" protest in the mechanical goods division of the B. F. Goodrich Co. plant. Between 200 and 250 men refused to work until three men laid off recently were put back to work.

T. G. Graham, vice president of the company, said the three men had been rehired and the division was operating normally early today.

COUNTY 4-H ACTIVITIES FOR SUMMER OUTLINED

R. W. Pifer, in Charge of Work Here, Maps Program for Coming Months.

Tentative plans for summer activities of Marion county 4-H clubs were reviewed today by R. W. Pifer, assistant to County Farm Agent S. L. Anderson, who is directing the club work this season. The first of a series of events for Marion county clubs is a leader's recognition dinner to be held May 25. H. W. Harshfield, assistant state club leader of Columbus, will be the speaker. The dinner will probably be held in Marion but the place has not yet been announced.

June 1 is the date set for the completion of enrollment and organization of the 4-H club work. By that time, club leaders expect to have members beginning actual work on projects. A conference for advisors and officers will be held June 12-13 at Camp John A. Owens. The sessions are to begin the afternoon of the first day and continue through June 13.

The countywide program will include a livestock judging tour for members of the livestock class. By judging in the county tour, members will place on the team selected for entry in the judging contests at the state fair. The county judging is to be held July 30.

Club members in Marion, Wyandot and Crawford county will hold combined meetings Aug. 2-8 at Camp Sandusky, near Upper Sandusky. A county club picnic, with demonstration contests will be held Aug. 11, with the teams from the various clubs competing for the right to enter elimination contests at the Marion County Fair. A young people's institute at Camp Crag, in Medina county, Aug. 16-20, will be attended by representatives from 4-H clubs here.

Members of the clubs are expected to prepare exhibits for the Ohio state fair, Aug. 31-Sept. 5, and also for the Cleveland livestock show in December. Delegates selected from the older members and leaders of the groups will attend the state 4-H club congress at Ohio State university Sept. 15-18. This is the annual meeting of the state organization, at which plans for the following year will be outlined.

Club members are also expected to exhibit their completed projects at the Marion County fair, Sept. 22-26, and those who do will receive extra credit for their work. The county fair exhibiting marks the completion of their project work. Last year in Marion county there were 27 clubs, 17 of them girls and 10 of them boys, with a total enrollment of 414. Of that number 296 were girls and 118 boys.

BLUM WANTS HERRIOT AS FOREIGN MINISTER

Would Take Leading Part in League Reform and Handling of Debt Problem.

By The Associated Press

PARIS, May 20—Edouard Herriot, thrice premier of France, weighed today an appeal from Leon Blum, premier-designate of the incoming leftist government, to become foreign minister and take a leading part in proposed League of Nations reform.

Blum, leader of the Socialist party, urged Herriott personally last night to accept the foreign affairs portfolio in the new cabinet, to be formed after the left-dominated chamber of deputies convenes early in June.

Sources close to Herriot said he was reluctant to take the post but deferred his final answer.

One reason for Herriot's unwillingness to take charge of the Quai D'Orsay was reputed to be the problem of writing a reply to the United States' formal notice of the June 15 payment due on the war debt.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

Marion To Join Nation in Will Rogers Tribute

Marion will join with the nation this week in a countrywide tribute to the late Will Rogers on the occasion of the dedication of the Will Rogers Memorial hospital at Saranac Lake, N. Y.

All people in and out of the theatrical profession are urged to cooperate in the week-long tribute to the cowboy-philosopher, starting Friday.

The observance of the "memorial week" here will be largely carried out through the cooperative efforts of the Palace and Ohio theaters and Fred W. Warner, chairman of the Marion County Will Rogers memorial committee.

Both theaters will include on their regular program a special feature short subject that is a eulogy of Will Rogers by Irvin Cobb, May Robson, Shirley Temple, Lowell Thomas and Bing Crosby, with the latter singing Rogers' favorite song, "Home On the Range." The short also includes shots of the Will Rogers Memorial hospital at Saranac and the last picture of Rogers.

The theaters also have lobby posters calling attention to "memorial week." As a feature attraction Manager J. J. Huebner has booked one of Will Rogers most successful pictures, "A Connecticut Yankee," for a return showing at the Ohio theater four days beginning Saturday. The Palace has selected Frank Capra's latest directorial effort, "Mr. Deeds Goes To Town," featuring Gary Cooper, for a four-day engagement beginning Sunday.

Members of the national Will Rogers Memorial commission feel that the tubercular hospital will provide a fitting and useful tribute to the memory of the late actor. It was built at a cost of more than a million dollars and was opened June 28, 1930, as the National Vaudeville Artists Sanatorium and Lodge. Since its opening there have been 231 tubercular patients admitted, 177 of whom were discharged. These patients came from every branch of the theatrical profession, including actors, stage carpenters, stage hands, stage electricians and operators.

The hospital has been presented to the Will Rogers Memorial commission and will continue to be dedicated to the service of those of the stage and screen profession who are sick and needy. Part of "memorial week" will be devoted to laying the foundation for a permanent endowment fund for the Saranac institution.

NEW CUBAN LEADER SHUNS MACHADO AIDS

Also Avoids Ministers Who Were Connected With Recent Administrations.

By The Associated Press

HAVANA, May 20—The republic of Cuba wiped its governmental slate clean today of traces of the dictatorial rule of Gerardo Machado and the provisional regimes which followed his overthrow.

Miguel Mariano Gomez, son of a former president, formed a new cabinet and met with his ministers before his own inauguration at noon today to succeed Provisional President Jose A. Barnet.

Gomez, the first chief executive of the island to be elected to office by popular vote since Machado said he had two purposes in mind in selecting his cabinet:

1. He wanted no ministers who had been connected with any of the provisional governments of the last 2½ years.

2. He wanted no ministers who were associated in any way with the Machado administration.

The only way to get rid of a shark recently washed ashore at Stonehaven, England, was to burn it. A ton of coal in burning it, attempts were made to auction it off, but there were no bidders.

"Greatest Social Sin"

Since we have a war department, why not create a department of peace education presided over by a secretary with cabinet ranking, asks the General Conference of the Methodist church?

In presenting its report on world peace the conference denounced war as the greatest social sin and urged that Methodist conscientious objectors be given the same exemptions from legal prosecution as are accorded to members of certain religious and anti-war sects. Other points in the report called for universal conscription of money, industry and materials whenever manpower is conscripted and recommended the United States call an international conference to secure a "more just and intelligent distribution of natural resources." All these points have their weight, but the peace secretaryship is the most refreshing if only because of its originality.

Setting up of a new department of peace education, it was suggested, could be financed on a grant of not more than 5 per cent of the national defense appropriation. The idea will appeal to peace lovers. Particularly they may see righteous irony in the proposal to finance the department from national defense funds. They can argue cogently that money spent to preserve peace is money spent in the country's defense since war is so criminally destructive of national wealth.

For reasons all too obvious to a realist, a department of peace is not likely to be added to the list of governmental bureaus. Yet, as one checks on the number of bureaus now operating in Washington it is hard to escape the belief that many of them contribute much less to national welfare than the proposed department probably would.

Lennington Small.

Lennington Small, twice governor of Illinois and storm center of politics for many years in that state, died Sunday at the age of 73.

He was defeated in the recent Illinois primary when he contested for the Republican nomination for governor. Four times previously he had run for the nomination, winning it three times and serving in the governor's mansion for terms beginning in 1921 and 1925.

Unashamedly an avowed believer in the spoils system, Len Small built a powerful machine, particularly in the decade of the 20's. With that machine, several times he shed his organization rode to victory over waves of public resentment, but finally "citizens' tavolts" forced him into the background. He was acquitted when charged with using state funds for buying securities from which he allegedly withheld most of the interest for his personal benefit. But the clouds of that scandal and of ugly rumors connected with his highway building program eventually sapped strength from his machine.

Associated with him in many campaigns was William Hale Thompson, several times Chicago's "circus buffoon" of a mayor. Despite Small's apparent success in giving Illinois an excellent highway system, it cannot be said that civic minded citizens will regret the passing of his influence. With Small gone and his ally, Thompson, now without an effective machine, Illinois Republican politics may be less colorful. There appears to be reason to hope, however, it may become healthier.

Power Trust.

A neutral archaeologist, poking among the ruins of the League of Nations, must reflect that this was a noble building—yet it fell because some vital mortar was lacking. It was a temple dedicated to peace and cooperation. Unhappily, men have not yet proved themselves ready to accept those ideals. It may rise again, but there can be no certainty it will weather the new storms. Man's will to power, apparently, overwhelms his will to cooperate. Use of force, the curse of the world today, is the natural child of that will to power.

By recalling only a few of the significant post-war events, one may trace the part that the use of force has played in wrecking the League and bringing the world to the edge of the chasm.

In 1923 Italian war power batters at the island of Corfu in reprisal for the assassination of an Italian diplomat which has not been traced to any Greek citizens. Adolf Hitler rises to power on the ballot and a show of armed strength, then consolidates his position by a series of bloody purges.

Imperialistic Japan begin to achieve destiny in Manchukuo, aided by efficient armaments. Mongols and Japanese clash in border disputes, shoot first, then argue afterward. Italians bring the torch of civilization to Ethiopia, accompanied by mustard gas. Hitler remilitarizes the Rhineland. France throws up heavy fortifications along its border, so the post war history of Europe goes—force the motif of all the struggling and striving.

More subtly but no less potently, the force of economic compulsion drives nations along these mad paths. Some cry for land on which to unload surplus population. Others demand free access to raw material sources, still others seek prestige and power through territorial acquisition. All of them bear the threat of going to war if their desires are not met.

It is a sorry commentary upon civilization that today the power of force motivates the world. Yet it is too much to hope that anything akin to a spiritual or religious renaissance could sweep through the world and save mankind. It is, moreover, hardly to be expected that man readily will come to accept the sweet reasonableness of a doctrine of compromise and cooperation. Yet until many men do accept such a doctrine, little but inspired leadership can save the world from chaos. Unfortunately, contemplation of the ruins of the League of Nations does not imbue one with the hope that the leadership is forthcoming.

Sen. Borah's Disapproval.

Sen. Borah has come to bear a vital relationship to the Republican presidential campaign. There seems no possibility of his getting the party's nomination, yet many observers feel he still is the most important factor in the nominating problem.

For instance, Mark Sullivan, political writer for the New York Herald Tribune and an experienced, careful analyst, declares:

"The Republican convention can hardly afford wantonly to ignore Sen. Borah. He is important in himself and because of his following. He represents a sector of American thought important for the Republican to hold . . . The difference in the campaign between a Republican candidate with Borah making energetic speeches in his behalf and a Republican candidate toward whom Sen. Borah is apathetic could mean the difference between victory and defeat."

Seeking a satisfactory explanation for Sen. Borah's importance, one is likely to come to seize upon the conclusion that the senator is a symbol of revolt against established leadership. What Mr. Sullivan calls a "sector of American thought" probably is more like a sector of feeling. Anyone who tries to reduce Sen. Borah's principles to an understandable and popular code finds himself in difficulty.

On the other hand, it is obvious that many voters do sympathize with Sen. Borah as an insurgent—a leader who challenges the authority of better established leaders. Sen. Borah, as a figure in national politics, has profited from the mood of revolt which upset so many political apple carts in 1932 and 1934. He offers himself as an instrument of reform inside the Republican party.

The party undoubtedly will try to accommodate itself to him, but it is plain that he, in turn, should give some thought to his responsibility to the party. He cannot desert to the opposition, but he can sulk in his tent. His disapproval would hurt Republican chances, and he knows it. It is a circumstantial importance which will require all Sen. Borah's experience and judgment, lest he hurt both himself and his party.

Guffey Bill Seen As "Hodge Podge"

Supreme Court's Struggle With Measure Illustrates Damage Done by Congress "Buck Passing."

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright, 1936, by The Marion Star

WASHINGTON, May 20—The devastating effect upon the American Constitutional system of a congress that abdicates its legislative function by "passing the buck," so to speak, to the supreme court was never more dramatically illustrated than in the struggle which the nine justices had with the Guffey act.

The headlines may say it was a 6 to 3 decision, but actually a careful study of the three opinions filed will reveal that the differences were due to the failure of congress to write a clear-cut statute and to distinguish between the various provisions of the law which was enacted last year in defiance of the Schechter case.

Urged on by President Roosevelt, who told congress to pass the Guffey law irrespective of whatever "reasonable doubts" the members might have as to constitutionality, the result was such a hodgepodge that the supreme court tried conscientiously to separate the valid from the invalid sections.

Five justices—Sutherland, McReynolds, Van DeVanter, Butler and Roberts—said it couldn't be done, that the whole statute was so tied together by its valid and invalid provisions that they considered the act unconstitutional in its entirety, but reserved the right to consider any new legislation on its merits.

The other four justices—Hughes, Brandeis, Stone and Cardozo—said the act was "severable" and that it wasn't necessary to pass on the labor or wage sections or the tax sections at this time if the power to regulate marketing was upheld, which, of course, it wasn't by the five justices in the majority opinion.

There were six votes for outright condemnation of all the provisions of the law except marketing, and on this latter Mr. Hughes dissented. But it is not proper to say there were only six votes because the three other justices held it unnecessary to pass judgment on the labor provisions at all.

Out of the resultant situation, the following effects may be looked for:

1. The labor provisions will be abandoned and the Wagner labor relations law seems headed for the discard, too, because enough was said in the opinion to indicate that at least six justices think it not to be the province of the federal government to regulate employer-employe relations in manufacturing or production.

2. The marketing provisions will be revived. Transactions in interstate commerce and even price-fixing may be upheld where articles affected with a public interest move in interstate commerce, but it is emphasized by the chief justice that the constitutional requirement that rates must not be confiscatory and other constitutional inhibitions will have to be observed whenever a specific case arises to test the federal power.

3. Congress will not try at this session to reenact any substitute for the Guffey law. Even if it tried, the chances would be against passage because the American Federation of Labor is in a life and death struggle with John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers. When the original measure went through congress, the A. F. of L. helped Mr. Lewis. It is not disposed to throw its strength to him now.

4. Chief Justice Hughes pointed the way to the regulation of interstate commerce in respect to marketing of coal. The supreme court shows its inclination toward regional price arrangements in the famous Appalachian case, decided in 1933, so the Hughes opinion must be read now as a second chapter in the history of legal opinions bearing on unfair and ruinous competition in marketing transactions that cross state lines, especially where a natural resource like coal is involved.

Certainly, May 18 will be known as an eventful day in the chronicles of the supreme court because it reaffirmed so many of the principles of the Schechter case, handed down just a year ago. But on the same day there was handed down in the circuit court of appeals of the District of Columbia an equally important opinion which could not have been delivered but for the basic doctrines enunciated in the Schechter NRA case.

This was the case in which the rural resettlement administration of Dr. Tugwell was held invalid. But the opinion goes further. It questions the right of congress to delegate to the executive the spending of money for any unconstitutional purpose; that is, for some purpose not within the federal government's rights. Housing for private use is not regarded as a public purpose.

Since the supreme court of the United States will finish its present term before June 1, the latest case from the court of appeals of the district will hardly be argued before next autumn. Meanwhile, the opinion furnishes an interesting corroboration of the viewpoint of those in congress who have insisted on ear-marking appropriations and specifying just for what ends the public moneys should be spent.

There is another epochal development in the case. A municipal government was admitted to have the right to sue the federal government to restrain the latter from draining its local tax revenues. A citizen hitherto could not make such a suit effective as the supreme court has held that no one citizen could show a direct interest sufficient to entertain his plea. But now apparently a municipal government can enter a plea in the District of Columbia courts against federal officials to prevent the federal government from taking away its tax resources. This is of transcendent importance and may turn out to be the missing link in constitutional history as it relates to the power to prevent extravagance by the federal government or to the check against a hitherto unlimited right to tax anything and everything or to grant tax exemptions in a manner that adversely affects the municipality and its revenue-getting opportunities.

Behind the News

Men and Affairs Under The Washington Spotlight.

BY PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, May 20—Legal seers around the supreme court bet a few lightly used copies of the revised statutes a month ago that the Guffey coal decision would not come down until the Pennsylvania primaries were over.

They were right about the time, but wholly wrong about any connection between the coal case and party elections in the big coal state. What caused the court to spend 67 days considering the coal law was the fact that the nine justices wanted to write about nine separate opinions. It was a difficult task to get them to condense their viewpoints into the three different opinions which were finally rendered. That is, they split sharply and clearly on some major points, but the same justices did not split the same way on other major points.

At least that is the studied opinion of those who know something of the inner workings of the court.

Confusion

Eavesdropping is not considered good taste around the court council room. It has never been attempted. Yet if a dictaphone had been placed in chambers during the interesting discussions, it would have recorded the inside background of the coal decision something like this:

A majority of the court easily made up its mind that the labor provisions of the coal act are unconstitutional. In fact, there are reasons for suspecting the decision might have been unanimous if that were the only point involved. But when it came down to the price fixing provision, the majority became a minority. That is, six members of the court or more might have held that provision constitutional if it were the only point at issue. A decision along those two lines would have made an extra-fine legal mix-up. It would have permitted the coal operators to get away with price fixing while the union would have been denied its half of the code bargain, namely more wages and shorter hours. No one wanted to do that.

The wonder of it all is that only 67 days were required in the search for words which would enable five justices to sign the majority opinion.

Authors

The way it worked out, they say, is that Justice Sutherland was designated first to write a majority opinion. He enabled price-fixing justices to sign his opinion by disposing of that issue "without coming to the question of its constitutionality." That is he enabled all except one, Chief Justice Hughes. Mr. Hughes insisted on writing a separate opinion upholding the marketing agreements.

Sutherland first went through the throes of writing and rewriting to fit the judgment of his five. Then Hughes and Cardozo began and Cardozo had to revise to fit the views of his three. All that consumed the unusually long time.

Looking back on it, some of the best lawyers believe the lone hand Hughes opinion probably represents the soundest law, but they are glad the majority of the court did not accept it.

Resignation

There was more than legal respect behind Senator Guffey's voice when he accepted the court decision as that of an umpire in the ball game.

The truth is the most astute politicians within the new deal have come to the private conclusion that the only practical thing to be done about the supreme court is—nothing. The constitutional amendment escape is all right for congressmen to talk about as a long range ideal. However, it has come to be recognized as wholly impractical for new deal purposes now. Far more inviting to them now is the idea of congress enlarging the court, but even that is considered to be almost as impractical as trying to swing a constitutional amendment.

As one of the wisest of them said after the decision:

"There is no use agitating against the supreme court when three or four justices on it represent your viewpoint. The only thing to do is to wait until some of the opposing justices die."

They all looked healthy last Monday.

Quietude

This may be one reason why there was less ado than usual following this new deal reversal. Another is that nearly everyone here expected the decision. Few lawyers or politicians thought the Guffey act was constitutional. President Roosevelt himself intimated as much when he asked congress to pass the act regardless of doubts about its constitutionality. A third reason is that coal is not a burning national issue.

New York Notes

O. O. McIntyre's Diary of Fact, Fancy and Folks.

NEW YORK, May 20—Clarence Budington Kelland continues his career as the town's most amazing luncheon ring-master. He presides at the Dutch Treat Tuesday noon affairs where he not only uses the knout with a madman's fury but throws salt into the wounds.

To intimates he is "Bud." He looks as though he might have just left the boys at the general store in his native Portland, Mich., to preside over what is likely the most sophisticated male gathering in America. Dutch Treaters are foremost writers, artists and editors.

At each luncheon famous visiting celebrities are guests of honor. And the more celebrated they are, the more venomous is the Kelland introduction. It is no descriptive exaggeration to say he skins them alive and makes them like it.

Afterward he expresses the welcoming spirit of the Rotarian, for in truth he is actually a "folksey" fellow. Frank Crowninshield wrote of him in the Dutch Treat Year Book: "Think of a boy wanting passionately to be Attila suddenly discovering that in reality he was Ariel—the spirit of delight."

Among the Dutch Treat's honored guests given a ribbing by Bud Kelland during the past year were General Hugh Johnson, Sidney Kingsley, Mayor La Guardia, Rosa Ponselle, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, David Sarnoff, G. B. Stern, Rebecca West, John Charles Thomas, Jascha Heifetz, George Creel, Raymond L. Ditmars, Amelia Earhart and Dr. Alexis Carrel. Not one of the distinguished visitors flinched under fire. All showed they could take it.

* * *

And in the 1936 Dutch Treat Year Book, William L. Chenery, the magazine editor, went poetic with this:

I don't want to write an article on nudes;
My acquaintance with them is very slight.
So far as I know,
They are quite all right.
My only objection is to snickering old men.

One of the long-standing friendships of the town is between Harold Ross, editor of the New Yorker, and the former policeman, Edward McNamara, known also in the realms of theatricals as "the singing cop." McNamara is a rough and ready Irishman streaked with the usual sentimentality and Celtic wit. Before Ross married recently, they shared the same apartment and often made the after dark places and first nights together.

Mrs. Catherine Branchard has completed 30 years of rooming house keeping at 61 Washington Square and is still receiving "paying guests." Mrs. Branchard, a Swiss, is 80 now but active enough to fare forth on sunny afternoons in her Gay '90 horse-drawn barouche for a jog about the village she knows so well. Her three-story brick rooming house with the steps scrubbed white, Baltimore fashion, is known in the square as "the house of genius." Among her renters in the struggling days were Frank Norris, Alan Seegar, Theodore Dreiser, Gelett Burgess, Eugene O'Neill, Thompson Buchanan and John Reed. A modest plaque of Seegar adorns the facade. On a second floor room at No. 61 Madam Adelina Patti rehearsed for "Cavaleria Rusticana." Paul Palmer, of the American Mercury, is now a star boarder and Maxwell Bodenheim helps sustain the literary tradition. Her most orderly boarder was Theodore Dreiser, who kept his room in apple pie order—"a gloomy young man who often rocked in a window chair all evening folding and refolding his handkerchief." A hobby he indulges to this day on his magnificent estate.

PUTTING UP A FRONT—"That's fine, Henry—but we haven't anything left to sell!"

Arthur Brisbane

TODAY—Courts Are Hard New Deal's Program.

Big news from the supreme court of the United States and the U. S. court of appeals for the District of Columbia. Two "far reaching experiments" of Roosevelt new deal are declared unconstitutional.

The supreme court in a six to six decision killed the Guffey act, the District of Columbia court of appeals held the resettlement administration by Professor Tugwell violates a fundamental law of the land.

The decisions set forth that these major experiments in socialization involve unlawful delegation of powers vested in congress, and violation by the federal government of the rights of the states," the Washington dispatch avers.

The resettlement decision affected only that part of the agency's activities under Professor Tugwell's administration, leaving undecided the remainder of the 25 million dollars voted to the President last year.

Much of the resettlement money has been spent and much of it allocated, cancellation of which will raise problems.

The decision of the circuit court of appeals virtually holds that the national government has no business to do with the housing problems of the people. That is the business of the people and of the states.

If this decision of the District of Columbia court of appeals is upheld, this, with the supreme court decision killing the Guffey coal act, would look like a complete upset of the entire new deal program and make drastic revolution necessary to new deal activities.

25,000 Watch Frogs

At Angel's Camp, Calif., 25,000 persons watched the annual Calaveras county frog-jumping contest and saw "Can't Take It" cover a distance of 12 feet 3 inches in three hops. Another frog, owned on the ranch of the late Will Rogers, was second, with 2 inches.

Twenty-five thousand human beings watched some frog that was not half as many would have gathered to hear Einstein explain on relativity. This may mean that many human beings are more interested in the frog than they are in Einstein. A famous scientist declares that there is a greater difference between a highly educated man and an African bushman than between that bushman and a blade of grass.

How Do They Do It?

The big dirigible is making its third trip across the Atlantic to Lakehurst, N. J. A few will go there to see it; after awhile nobody will notice its coming. We get used to anything.

But we ought not to get used to the fact that while the swastika sails back and forth across the Atlantic, on time and safety, Uncle Sam's Stars and Stripes sit on the ground. "I wonder how they do it."

Labor Suggestion

It is suggested that every American be compelled to go to school until 22 years of age to compete in the competition for jobs.

It might be simpler to have everybody in school until 21, and then give everybody a pension of $200 a month. What could be simpler than that?

The average sensible person starts making a living for himself when he is 22 and would do well to continue on that basis. The American Federation of Labor says that there have more than 12,000,000 unemployed.

The French have a saying: "The more it changes, the more it is the same thing."

Something Else New

Jack Sullivan, 23, killed a police officer in a "gun fight" and died in the gas chamber at Sing Sing prison, Ariz. A photographer found him sitting in the execution chamber, dressed in shorts, a sweater fastened over his heart. He asked the doctors outside the execution chamber listen and know when he died. That photograph shows him holding a cigar in his left hand and grinning. When asked, just before he was put into the lethal gas chamber whether he wanted any last request answered with a smile, he replied: "Yes, might give me a gas mask."

The young man's last request shows delight in his ability to play the game." He was dead two minutes and seconds after that photograph was taken. Crime really does not pay.

Ten To One

Less than three weeks from tomorrow the deed will be done in Cleveland. The Republican candidate will be named.

It is observed that Mr. Hoover is smiling in all his photographs. No wonder! He is so far ahead in the field now that it is not a race.

A straw vote in New York reported by the New York Times shows Landon distancing his temporaries, on an average, more than ten votes to one against the field, 3 to 1 odds.

JUNIOR RED CROSS GROUP ON PROGRAM

Young People Give Rotary Club an Account of National Convention.

Members of the Rotary club members were given a demonstration of [illegible] enthusiasm for humanitarian work yesterday when four members of the city's Junior Red Cross chapter appeared as guests of the club's weekly luncheon program at Hotel Harding and introduced by Miss Ruth Black, executive secretary of the Marion County Red Cross chapter, the four gave interesting accounts of their attendance at the national Red Cross convention, held in Chicago, May 10 to 14.

The speakers were Philip Sansotta of Central Junior High school, who spoke on "Why I Belong to the Junior Red Cross," Dale Hudson of Vernon Heights Junior High school, gave an account of Junior Red Cross conferences in Chicago, Miss Betty Newell, also of the Vernon school, who told of plans for organizing a Junior Red Cross chapter at Harding High school, and Melvin Cratty of Thomas A. Edison Junior High school, whose subject was "International Correspondence."

All referred to the peace theme prevalent at the Chicago convention.

Miss Newell related an incident which occurred at one of the Junior Red Cross conferences in which Philip Sansotta, speaking extemporaneously, put Marion "on the map" by telling of the school patrol which functions here as a traffic safety organization. Of the hundreds of cities represented, Marion was the only one having an organization of that kind. She said Sansotta's talk, given before 700 young people discussing the subject of safety, was applauded as one of the outstanding contributions to the program.

Miss Jeanette Powers, Edison Junior High school teacher who organized the first Junior Red Cross here four years ago, was a guest at the speakers' table.

Reports of the recent Rotary district convention held in Canton were given by Dr. O. M. Young, Carl Watrous, Grover Snyder and J. C. Mann.

Gene Hill, president of the club, announced that the speaker next week will be Col. Waite C. Johnson, commanding officer at Ft. Hayes, Columbus.

Hiccough

A severe and prolonged attack of hiccough is a distressing experience. Ordinarily the trouble subsides within a few minutes. But there are cases which may last for several hours. At times we read of cases which continue for several weeks or even months. They baffle medical science and unless drastic measures are taken, may prove exceedingly serious.

Hiccough is commonly seen in children who are careless in their eating habits and in consequence suffer from mild digestive disorders. Any distension or other disturbance of the stomach may lead to irritation of the "phrenic" nerve, the nerve which has an important relationship to the diaphragm, the muscular partition between chest and abdominal cavities. Often repeated attacks of hiccough may be traced to some localized infection within the body, such as a diseased liver, gall bladder, stomach, tonsils or teeth. Persons who bolt their food, swallowing it without proper chewing, are likely to be victims of hiccough.

In major abdominal operations where handling of certain internal organs is necessary, the surgeon exercises great care. He knows that irritation or pressure may lead to persistent and annoying hiccough.

Of course, this may occur in spite of the surgeon's precautions. This is especially true in operations performed on the intestine, stomach and gall bladder. In such cases hiccough usually appears with twenty-four hours after the operation. Although it is annoying and often persists for several days, it subsides in due time.

You are familiar with the various home measures offered for the relief of hiccough. Taking a few swallows of water, inhaling fumes from a piece of horse radish, tickling the nose, slapping the back, gazing at a given object to take the mind off the symptom, and other methods are advised for this annoying complaint. One of these may be beneficial, but in certain types of hiccough more energetic measures must be used. At times it may be necessary to wash out the stomach or administer a mild anesthetic or narcotic. The physician should be consulted and his advice carefully followed.

HINDENBURG ARRIVES ON SECOND CROSSING

German Zeppelin Makes Trip in 78 Hours; Longer Than First Due to Gale.

By The Associated Press

LAKEHURST, N. J., May 20—The German dirigible Hindenburg was grounded at the Lakehurst naval air station at 6:08 a. m., (E. S. T.), today, completing its second commercial westward crossing of the north Atlantic in 78 hours, 27 minutes.

The landing was effected without incident. At 6 o'clock, the first landing lines were dropped from the great airship's nose and seconds later other lines were thrown from the tail. The ground crew quickly pulled the zeppelin to the ground.

Only a few hundred people watched the arrival.

At 6:13 o'clock, the ship was safely tied up at the outdoor mooring mast about a quarter mile from the air station hangar. It was to remain outside during its scheduled brief stay, with reservicing operations being conducted at the mast.

The Hindenburg's crossing was nearly 17 hours slower than its record inaugural trip when it reached Lakehurst 61 hours 57 minutes after leaving its home port. It started this cruise from Frankfort on the Main, Germany, at 11:35 p. m., Saturday.

The zeppelin had bucked heavy head winds during its trans-Atlantic cruise and was a day late as a result.

Memorial Tree Planting Marks Annual Fine Arts Festival of County Federation of Women's Clubs

MRS. EARL E. PADGETT of Galion, newly-elected president of the Ohio Federation of Women's clubs, was a guest when the Marion County Federation of Women's clubs held its sixth annual community fine arts festival yesterday afternoon and evening. The occasion marked her first appearance before any group of club women since her election last Thursday at the state convention at Toledo. Mrs. Padgett spoke briefly at the program yesterday afternoon at Central Junior High school and was formally presented at the banquet last evening at Hotel Harding where she was an honor guest.

A tree planting ceremony at the Harding memorial yesterday afternoon launched the day's program which was one of the most interesting from a standpoint of talent and exhibits to be sponsored by the federation since inauguration of the festival six years ago. The banquet honored the state president, past presidents of the county federation and Mrs. Everett Grigsby, who will succeed Mrs. Paul Knauss as head of the organization next year. Speakers for the day were Earl W. Woodruff of Columbus, interior decorator, and Mrs. George Sharpe of Steubenville, who returned recently from a cruise to Africa.

Mrs. Sawyer Presides

Mrs. Carl W. Sawyer, retiring vice president of the state federation and first vice president of the county federation, presided as toastmistress for the banquet during which the awards in the annual literature contest were announced. At this time Mrs. Grover C. Snyder, a past president of the county federation and newly-elected president of Central district, was presented a vase of flowers, a gift from the district. The presentation was made by Mrs. Sawyer.

The day's program opened with a tree planting ceremony at the Harding memorial, a new project of the federation this year. Twelve trees, all elms, line either side of the main entrance to the tomb. Five were purchased by individual clubs in memory of one or more of their members, and two of the remaining ones, purchased by the federation honored Mrs. Paul Knauss and the past presidents respectively.

Dedication Program

Mrs. Frank Annen, conservation chairman of the federation, presided and dedicated the tree honoring Mrs. Knauss. The program opened with assembly singing of "America the Beautiful" and the invocation spoken by Rev. Lawrence A. Wood, pastor of Trinity Baptist church. Mrs. Clarence L. Rutherford sang "Trees." Mrs. Knauss dedicated the tree honoring the past presidents. Mrs. J. P. Robinson of the Woman's club dedicated the tree purchased by her club, to the founders of the club, the oldest in the federation, and the Woman's Century club chose to honor its deceased members, with Mrs. Karl W. Schell presiding. Mrs. Mame Herr Frank, a charter member of the Advance club, was honored by her associates in dedication of the tree purchased by the members, with Mrs. J. A. Dodd presiding, and Mrs. T. H. Sutherland, representing the Art club dedicated a tree to the memory of Miss Belle Johnston, a past president and influential member of the club. The Three Arts club members chose to honor Mrs. Paul Knauss, a member of the club, and the memory of Mrs. Asa Queen, with Mrs. Rex Robinson presiding. Mrs. Knauss made the presentation to the Memorial association.

Speech of Acceptance

The trees were accepted by French Crow, a member of the Harding Memorial association. In a brief speech he paid a high tribute to the memory of the late President.

"If a decoration does not play a useful part in your home, it is not a decoration," Mr. Woodruff told his audience in his talk on "Color, Texture and Design in the Home," at the school auditorium. Here the invocation was spoken by Rev. Howard L. Olewiler, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and Mrs. Clara Campbell presided for the singing of "America," with Mrs. Victor E. Dombaugh at the piano. Completing the musical program were two numbers, "Floods of Spring," Rachmaninoff, and "Year's at the Spring," Bach, by Mrs. E. N. Hale, contralto, accompanied by Mrs. Dombaugh.

Mr. Woodruff described the gold-potato masher, five-piece haircloth covered furniture era as being no more ridiculous than some of our present day ideas of furnishing, and then proceeded to draw word picture of some of the misfits in home decoration. The trouble with most houses, he explained, is a lack of fundamental principles of art in the home, and suggested as a part of the school curriculum today the teaching of an appreciation of things with which people have to live in their homes. Color, texture and design make up the rule of suitability in the decoration of a home, he explained, and cautioned his audience against the furnishing of a country cottage in the style of a formal city home, or the combining of modernistic furnishings with antiques. Blue suggests dignity, orchid is depressing, and orange reflects warmth and gaity he said in discussing colors. He stressed background as being important and explained that with the right background even the worst furniture looks good.

Gives Illustrations

Mr. Woodruff illustrated his talk with furniture and materials bringing out the color, design and textures for the various types of furniture and rooms and by means of costume worn by Mrs. Mame Herr Frank, Mrs. Earl Miller, Mrs. Z. B. Houghton Jr., Mrs. C. J. Altmaier and Mrs. Carl McDaniel. Assisting in the afternoon as ushers were members of the Girl Scouts and Girl Reserves. Ferns and other greenery decorated the stage.

An unusually fine exhibit of Medici prints displayed on the mezzanine floor at the hotel interested the women preceding the dinner hour. Miss Mabel Wheatley, a member of the Art club, under whose auspices the exhibit was presented, discussed the pictures informally. She was assisted by several members of the club.

Baskets of flowers entered in the flower exhibit carried out a decorative note on the mezzanine floor, and in the ballroom where tables were laid for the banquet the centerpieces were blue and yellow tapers arranged in groups of three. Mrs. Knauss presided with Mrs. Sawyer, and grace was spoken by Mrs. D. H. Harvey, a past president.

Talks Given

The program included a book chat in which Miss Grace Kline discussed non-fiction books, Miss Philomen Gregg, poetry, Miss Lucile Foreman, drama and Miss Isabel Freer, fiction.

Mrs. Sharpe took her audience on a most interesting trip to Capetown and other cities of interest in South Africa and gave her personal experiences in visiting a gold mine and other interesting places. She described the city of Capetown as a tea-drinking spot with bankers, clerks, city officials and all the rest of the citizenry stopping their work at 11 a. m. to drink tea. She described the customs and manners of the people and said she created quite a furore in a beauty shop with her long hair. "The blackman, as he is called in that country, has no political and very few civil rights, and must have a license much as we license an automobile or a dog, in this country," she said.

Mrs. Padgett expressed her appreciation of the honor bestowed upon her by the state federation and asked the cooperation of the Marion clubwomen in her work for the next two years.

Music Features

Music for the evening program included a group of Stephen Collins Foster's songs, and "Good Night Beloved," by Tirault, sung by Mrs. S. L. Anderson, Mrs. Eugene H. Moore, W. E. Orcutt and Howard Orr, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Victor E. Dombaugh.

Past presidents introduced included Mrs. Louis Uhl, Mrs. H. K. Henderson, Mrs. Harvey, Mrs. W. L. Stump, Mrs. W. H. Holverstott, and Mrs. Grover C. Snyder.

Miss Ann Mercness announced the following awards in the flower exhibit; table arrangements, Council of Jewish Women, first, and the Woman's club, second, and flower baskets, the Quest club.

Honors in the short story contest were awarded Miss Lucile Foreman of the Quest club, first, Mrs. Edwin Spohn of the Literary Arts club, second and Mrs. Clyde Morrison of the Literary Arts club, third. Mrs. George E. Kleinmaier of the Council of Jewish Women won first honors in the poetry contest, and Miss Philomen Gregg of the Art and Le Mercure clubs, second and third. Miss Helen Cathers of the El Dorado club was given honorable mention in the poetry contest. The announcement was made by Mrs. Everett Grigsby, literature chairman.

Miss Foreman's story was "Twenty Years Ago," Mrs. Spohn's "Lillian's Letter," and Mrs. Morrison's "Timmy." "February" was the title of Mrs. Kleinmaier's poem and Miss Gregg's contributions were "Lunettes" and "Intermezzo," and Miss Cather's poem was entitled "Blow On, Oh Wind." The judges were Audrey Kenyon Wilder, dean of women at Ohio Northern university and Robert Newdick of the faculty at Ohio State university.

The program closed with the presentation of the president's pin and gavel to Mrs. Grigsby by Mrs. Knauss.

Arrangements for the festival were in charge of Miss Ann Mercess, fine arts and general chairman, Mrs. E. H. Morgan, Mrs. Victor Dombaugh and Mrs. C. C. Ackerman and Mrs. Klunk, social chairman, and Mrs. Knauss.

Serving as ushers last evening were Misses Dora Hardy, Virginia Bachman, Ruth Crow, Barbara Thomas and Harriet Ann Nipper.

SYNOPSIS: When Elinor Flemming married Rupert Joris, Rupert confided Hope—and left her for several months hunting lodge. Elinor married the other man, Rupert lost himself in the wilds of Canada, where he was found by Dirk, Hope's youngest brother, has been sent home to find that Hope's illness is fancied. Martin tells a story of a ghost heard a man's voice in her room, and of hearing Hope say this, and of having tried to catch the man, and had been no one.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE

Ghost Story

"I SAID I say anything, for a minute," Martin continued, and then I begged her pardon, and told her I had thought it was a burglar. But she wouldn't let me go. She said, 'Come back. I want you to make sure. Please search the room.'

"As soon as I went inside I looked at the door that led to Mister Rupert's room to see if anyone could have gone out that way. The door was locked, and that's a big one and hard to push. I went out and did it myself, just to see. Then I began to search....everywhere, I guess. I looked over by the bed, and saw the cold night air coming in the open window.

"I looked under the bed, and in the wardrobe, and in the bath and dressing room, and behind curtains. The door to the hall was open, and anybody had gone into Mister Rupert's room they'd have had to pass it to get to the stair. I watched it all the time, and I went out through that room, like I say.

"There was only one other way they could have gone, and that was through the window."

"A drop of thirty feet," commented Dirk.

"I know, sir. And there were no tracks in the snow. It was a fresh snow had just stopped a few hours before. Any one dropping from the window...."

"Would have been dead on the ground," said Dirk.

"Yes. Or if he'd managed to skinny down the tower the ivy would have been torn, and there would have been tracks. There was nothing. I went around with Lenar, with flashes."

"What did Logan say?"

"He didn't say anything at first, just told the other fellers to stay in the car, and came with me. There were no tracks anywhere except those I'd made myself. After Logan had looked, he wanted to go up and talk to Mrs. Joris, and when I told him I had already spoken with Mrs. Joris and that she had heard nothing—What she really said was, 'There's no one here'—why he gave me the laugh. Said I must be crazy, hearing a burglar in her room that she hadn't heard herself, and that I couldn't find, and that hadn't left any tracks. I let him laugh. But I hadn't said it was a burglar."

"And you didn't think it was a burglar?"

"Not after Mrs. Joris said, 'There is no one here.' I simply knew I had heard somebody, and that you didn't pay me to think. You paid me to protect Mrs. Joris, and to watch, not to....not to work up suspicion about her."

"You didn't mention your suspicions to him?"

"No, I didn't. Anyhow, he decided to think it was crazy. You see I'd been to them earlier, wanting one of them to stay in the house. All that sounded jittery. But I heard the noise, Mister Dirk. And that's all there is to say."

"And Mrs. Joris is ill," said Dirk.

"Yes, sir. Mary says she's not in bed. Just nervous and upset, what with Mister Rupert being sick, and all this other."

"The servants know about this other?"

"They know, because Mrs. Joris told Mary. She asked Mary if Timothy had heard anything that night. He hadn't. Timothy and the maids went out and found tracks around the tower, but I explained they were my tracks...mine and the cop's I called in. I didn't tell them about Logan, of course. I let them think I'd imagined it all, and laugh if they wanted to. They didn't laugh, because Nora told them it was likely the ghost."

"The ghost?" repeated Dirk, though he remembered the legend. The ghost was supposed to have been laid when the old wing was burned.

"The ghost," explained Martin, "that used to haunt the place. Nora says likely, with the depression and all, it's come back. Timothy said, 'Yes. The general unrest.'"

Martin managed a nervous smile.

Dirk said, You don't believe in ghosts, Martin?"

The eyes of the two boys met. Martin said,

"I think, sir, it's the only explanation."

"Good," said Dirk. "And whatever Logan may say, you did right in every particular, especially in keeping things to yourself."

"Thank you, sir. You don't know how good...how different...that makes me feel."

Dirk looked at his watch. It was six o'clock. Logan would not be at his post till eight.

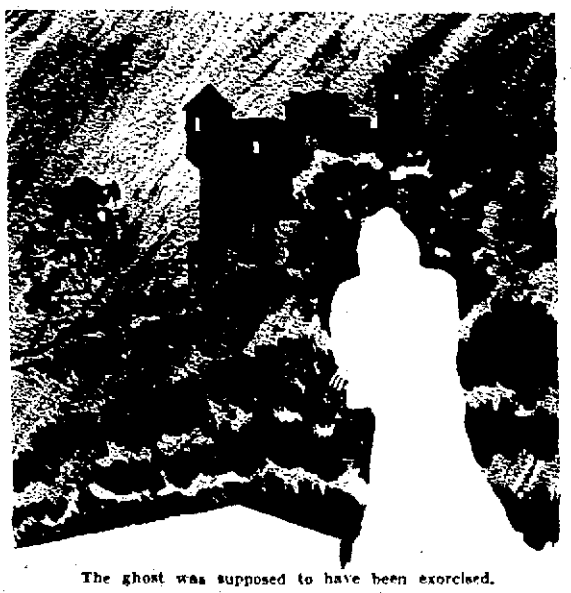
"Tell Nora to see me in my room," he said to Martin, and went downstairs.

He was thinking of the revolver Nora had mentioned to Martin Nora, Dirk decided, could at least tell him when she had first seen the pistol.

Nora was beaming when she came, a bony Irishwoman, with big reliable hands, and a blob of red in each cheek.

"Oh, but Mister Dirk, I'm that glad ye've come home! Mrs. Joris will rest now, the poor lady....

"But yis, I know about the revolver. It was me took it to Mister Rupert, in the foorst place. Big it was, with a foine pearl handle, a number forty-five. Mister Rupert said so. Little I liked carrying it in me hand. But I didn't want to lave it where Mrs. Joris might come across it, and frighten herself to death. Or so I thought, sir."



The ghost was supposed to have been exorcised.

"You found it, I gather," said Dirk. "Where?"

"But in the tower-room, sir, Mrs. Joris' room. It was in the wall pocket there...the safe, that is, where your grandfather...God rest his soul...used to keep his nip o' brandy, sir. It was him showed me how to open it once when he was ill he couldn't walk to it. Ivery once in a while I open it now, and dust it out, for it's a great place for rats since he died."

The fantastic mystery, tomorrow, takes a new turn.

LOVE-IN-REVERSE

A successful wife is one who takes marriage seriously—a successful divorcee is one who takes it serially.

It is almost as hard for some men to get along with only one new spring romance as it would be for a woman to get along with only one new spring hat.

Things to Remember:—Girls got kissed just as often when a kiss was an achievement for the man and a surrender for the woman as they do now that it is the other way around.

* * *

When a woman says that a man won't agree to give her a divorce, she usually means a divorce and nine-tenths of his possessions. Almost any man will let a woman unleash him when he finds that she wants neither him nor his money.

* * *

Don't be shocked if your husband forgets his bald-spot and can't make his eyes behave at this tricky time of year. It's just the Peter-Pan in him!

* * *

The woman who marries a man with the hope of uplifting his moral and mental ideas should remember that nobody but a barber ever changed a man above the ears.

* * *

With so many popular authors starring in the movies and so many screen stars writing for the magazines, our lawyers and doctors may soon be inspired to take up tap-dancing, and our tap-dancers may go in for undertaking as a side-line.

* * *

The ultimate test of diplomacy is a man's ability to make a girl believe that the reason he doesn't propose marriage is because he "loves her too much to tie her up." But it has been done.

* * *

The two inevitable tragedies that take a man's lifelong pals away from him, one by one, are death and matrimony.

Married Comrades

Madge Tells Lillian Trip's Purpose Is Shopping.

AS LILLIAN'S warmly interested and affectionate eyes met mine, and her voice asked me to "dish the dope" on my journey, I felt a wave of distaste for my errand sweep over me, a feeling amounting to self-loathing for the deceit which Marion's appeal was compelling me to practice upon her.

The impulse to tell her everything, to give her the secret letter which Marion had written me, begging me to come to Whitney Hall that she might tell me of some dilemma connected with Ronald in which she needed advice, was so strong that I had to fight my facial muscles and my eyes to control lest they betray my perturbation to her sharp eyes.

But I realized that telling her of Marion's appeal to me, with its plaint that she could not ask her mother's advice because of her prejudice against Ronald, would wound her sorely without helping her young daughter at all.

"It's very simple," I told her, forcing a smile to my lips. "I told you that I wanted to snatch this respite given me by my uncle's arrival two days later than we thought, and go into the city.

"I want to do some shopping and attend to some other necessary things. Dicky promptly forbade me going alone and offered to go along. He thinks, and I agree with him, that if we start before daylight and return after dark, the neighbors will not guess that we are gone, and be able to speculate upon the singularity of my going away while my father is supposed to be critically ill."

"I imagine the Dicky-bird had other people in view besides the neighbors," Lillian said sagely. "The not-so-innocent-bystanders upon the hilltop for instance. They would be much interested in your journey if they knew of it."

"But they won't," I rejoined. "I am going to get away before daylight if I shatter every alarm clock in the place."

"Of course, you will," she said soothingly. "Don't you want me to 'keep the bridge—or rather the alarm clock with thee?'"

"Do you mean wake yourself up, too?" I asked, horrified. "No, no."

"A thousand times no," she hummed airily. "Well! all right. I just thought I'd ask."

"Well! you're answered," I said firmly, but I found the next morning that my prohibition had been of no avail. It was but two minutes after my own clock had sounded that I heard her light rap upon my door.

"Is you'se up," she commented as I opened the door. "All right. I'll just run down and get the breakfast. I'll be [illegible]

"That's my specialty," she said with a grin as she turned away with an airy wave of the hand. "Goodby, and good luck, darling, and don't tire yourself too much."

Katie had a delicious hot breakfast waiting when I came into the dining room, but Dicky was nowhere to be seen.

"Have you heard Mr. Graham yet, Katie?" I said.

"He come pretty soon," she said with a giggle. "You know, I kin always tell ven he get oop. He stamp around hathroom, cusing about towels or something he no can find. Vell! eat coom ten meenits to tree und I no hear heem, so I send Jeem oop to get him oudt. He tell Jeem to tell you he hurrying like hell, und he be down in two jerks of leetle sheep's tail."

Dicky Little Late

"I won't wait for him," I decided, "because he may be late and hurried. Please bring me my breakfast now."

But I had hardly finished my melon before Dicky lounged in, apparently unhurried, with "every hair in place."

"The top of the morning," he said as he sat down opposite me. "I suppose Katie has told you that she saved the day, or I'd have been sleeping yet."

"I am very grateful to her," I said demurely.

"So am I," he said. "If we're going to start on this fool journey, I sure want to get away before daylight gives those birds on the hill an opportunity to lamp our getaway."

CLEVELAND YOUTHS HELD IN ROBBERY

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, May 20—Two 22-year-old Cleveland youths were held today as suspects in the $6,000 holdup of the First National bank of Wellington last week and detectives were investigating the possibility of their participation in a number of other bank robberies in the state.

Detective Lieut. Alfred Jones said the two youths were identified here yesterday by employes of the Wellington bank. Both have police records.

SOCIAL SECURITY PLAN EXPLAINED TO OFFICIALS

Representatives from Seven Counties Hear Talks by State Department Heads at Meeting Here.

Problems connected with administration of Ohio social security legislation in the counties were discussed last night by state officials in common pleas courtroom here before nearly 100 probate judges, county auditors, county commissioners and their assistants from Marion and six other counties.

Judge Henry J. Robison of Columbus, chief of the newly created division of public assistance of the state public welfare department, led the discussion. Other speakers included Miss Esther McClain, chief of the state bureau for aid to dependent children; Dr. C. H. Calhoon, director of the state bureau of juvenile research, and William E. Bartram, executive secretary of the Ohio commission for the blind.

Probate Judge W. L. Glessencamp of Delaware, president of the Ohio Probation association, presided. The chairmanship was turned over to him after Probate Judge Oscar Gast, president of group No. 4 of the state association, opened the session. Counties represented were Marion, Delaware, Hardin, Morrow, Union, Wyandot and Logan.

Seen As Permanent

"The social security act is not an emergency measure, Judge Robison declared in opening the discussion. "The legislation comes as a result of the recognition of the fact that at all times we do have the handicapped, the blind, the crippled, the orphans and the aged." We have every reason to feel that this is a permanent and constructive program, he said.

He urged those in the audience to have faith that the new social security program will meet the needs the federal government intended it to meet when it was set up. Judge Robison recalled the excellent support given social security legislation in both houses of the Ohio legislature. "It appears that we in Ohio realize there is no place in this program for politics," he said.

He explained that the federal plan calls for creation of a single state agency in Ohio to coordinate the program. This was established in the new division of public assistance of which Judge Robison is the head.

The judge called on other state authorities to talk on social security legislation as it applies to their departments.

Urges County Support

Miss McClain, chief of the bureau for aid to dependent children, urged the county authorities to do their best in giving the social security program a good start in their county. The federal government will now be able to give aid to dependents in forms that it has never given before and the state government also will be in position to give much that it has never given before, she said.

Miss McClain said each county will have a coordinating committee probably headed by the probate judge of the county, and including in its personnel a representative of the county commissioners and two laymen, the latter to be appointed by the state division of public assistance.

Levy Required

Each county must contribute .15 of a mill of tax money to the social security program, Miss McClain explained. At this point County Auditor Harry V. Mounts asked if Marion county might participate in the program if it did not appropriate the required .15 of a mill. He was told it could not participate. Auditor Mounts declared the general fund has been appropriated in full and that the county is about $4,600 short of the amount that would be required to go into the program. "We want to participate in the social security program but I don't see how we can do it," he said.

Judge Robison suggested that the county might return funds to the general fund that have been appropriated for other purposes and that a fresh appropriation, one that would include social security money, be made. Auditor Mounts said the county had not over-appropriated in any department or for any need.

Says It's Cheaper

Judge Robison pointed out that it costs less to participate in the social security program than to remain out of it. He said the appropriations for the various phases of it will be less than the counties are now appropriating for those purposes. He invited representatives of Marion and any other county that is short of funds to come to the division of public assistance in Columbus in the immediate future and work out the financial end of the program as it relates to the counties' share.

Miss McClain resumed her discussion, pointing out that the federal government contributes one-half of the total amount put up by the county and state.

Dr. Calhoon, director of the state bureau of juvenile research, spoke briefly, outlining the work of his bureau. Dr. Calhoon said he can foresee, under social security, the establishment of needed clinics throughout the state and country. Three per cent of the children of school age are in the so-called underprivileged class, he declared.

Mr. Bartram, executive secretary of the state commission for the blind, told several personal experiences which he said tended to support him in "debunking popular misconceptions" about the supersensitiveness of the blind. Mr. Bartram declared that he and his department want the blind of Ohio to have adequate assistance given them so that they may practice self-development and self-help. We don't want pensions, he said. Mr. Bartram pointed out that it would be necessary to give only temporary aid to some—to those who can be rehabilitated and take a useful place in society in spite of their handicap.

Given Figures

He presented figures showing how many persons are now on blind relief in Marion and nearby counties and how much the county is spending for each person on relief. Marion county, with a blind population of 104, has 65 on blind relief who are receiving $6.54 per month. Hardin county has 46 on blind relief receiving $8.33 each. Delaware county has 36 receiving $7.71, Logan county has 40 receiving $6.58, Morrow county has 23 receiving $7.72, Union county has 22 receiving $11.66 and Wyandot county has 32 receiving $10.47 each.

Mr. Bartram also gave the estimated amounts each county will receive and federal grants for blind relief. These amounts, together with their own appropriations which he said will not exceed, and in many cases will be less, than they are now, will enable each person on blind relief to receive about $25 a month. The counties will be eligible to receive the following amounts from the state and federal governments: Marion county, $10,000; Delaware county, $7,000; Hardin county, $10,000; Logan county, $8,000; Morrow county, $5,000; Union county, $8,000, and Wyandot county, $6,000. The estimates are based on present blind relief expenditures in the counties. When persons on blind relief reach the age of 65 they are to be transferred to the division of aid for the aged. The maximum benefits the counties are to receive from the government for blind relief will be four-sixths of the total earmarked by the counties for direct assistance to the blind, Mr. Bartram pointed out.

The social security program in Ohio is expected to get under way by July 1, the speakers pointed out.

Open forum was conducted following the meeting and questions pertained largely to subjects already discussed in the session. Judge Robison and the state officials will be in Jackson Thursday afternoon and Hillsboro Thursday night to conduct similar sessions. They are carrying their meetings to every part of Ohio during May and June.

TOM MIX INJURED AS GALE HITS TENT

By The Associated Press

BURLEY, Idaho, May 20—A dust-laden gale swept in from the northwest yesterday flattened the menagerie tent of the Tom Mix circus, injured the former screen star and three of his assistants and left hurriedly emptied animal cages a mass of wreckage.

As the wind struck, animals were moved into traveling trucks. Spectators rushed from the swaying main tent while crews tugged at its ropes. The big canvas was ripped to pieces before it could be lowered. Mix was injured when a platform plank struck him on the shoulder. His announcer was knocked unconscious by a falling pole but was not seriously injured. Two other workmen suffered bruises.

The damage was estimated at approximately $9,000 by D. E. Turney, Mix's manager.

Cleveland Loses "Crucial" Game to New York Yankees

TRIBE'S LOSS GIVES TIGERS CHANCE TO APPROACH 3RD PLACE

Second Position Giants Rained Out; Lindstrom Leaves Dodgers.

The rather unusual spectacle of two teams, in the middle of the battles for the lead in their respective leagues and both apparently unable to make the fans take notice, is to be seen in the major leagues these days.

They are the New York Giants and Cleveland Indians, second and third respectively in the standings. They've both had a few good gatherings, but Cleveland already is facing the spectacle of dwindling attendance while the New York attitude is that the often-injured Giants can't hold together for very long.

Fewer than 5,000 fans turned out yesterday to see the Tribe engage in a final "crucial" struggle with the league-leading New York Yankees and go down, 10 to 4.

Reds' Game Postponed

The Giants were rained out in their final game against Pittsburgh and got a welcome breathing spell before tackling the St. Louis Cardinals, who lead them by a half game. The Cincinnati-Brooklyn and St. Louis-Phillies games also were postponed.

Cleveland's defeat gave the Detroit Tigers a chance to come closer to third place as Tommy Bridges found some of his best form and pitched them to a 4 to 2 victory over Washington while the Red Sox kept pace with the Yanks by pulling out a 4 to 2 decision over the Chicago White Sox. Rogers Hornsby's reviving Browns bowled over the Athletics 8 to 4. The day's other contest saw the Boston Bees beat out Chicago Cubs 6 to 5.

Remaining idle didn't prevent the Dodgers from taking another one on the chin when Freddy Lindstrom, veteran outfielder, decided he wasn't doing himself or anyone else much good as a Brooklyn player and announced his retirement from baseball. He was signed by the Dodgers in January after being unconditionally released by the Cubs and had hit only .264 in 26 games. A leg injury suffered last Friday was believed to have prompted the decision.

Players Have Tiff

The few fans who did turn out at Cleveland saw Pearson outlast Blaeholder, despite his wildness, Lou Gehrig, Red Rolfe and Billy Sullivan belt homers and Bill Knickerbocker and Tony Lazzeri almost come to blows. Lazzeri thought Knickerbocker was unduly rough when Joe Di Maggio slid into second.

Bridges, hurling his third complete game of the season, limited the Senators to four hits and fanned five in a clash with Buck Newsom. Monte Stratton of the White Sox also pitched a four hitter but Boston scored three runs in the second on Zeke Bonura's error, two passes, Oscar Melillo's hit and long fly. The Browns just breezed through as the batters who couldn't hit at all a few days ago belted Dusty Rhodes for five runs in six innings.

Boston's Bees had to conquer the elements as well as the National League champions. A wind, dust and rain storm delayed the game in the second inning and each team scored four runs in the third before Lon Warneke and Ray Benge could get warmed up again. Boston's winning runs came off Clay Bryant in the fourth.

COLUMBUS LOSES, 3-1, TO INDIANAPOLIS; ST. PAUL DEFEATED

Brewers Trim American Association Leaders Second Straight Time.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 30 — A couple of youngsters who almost stuck with the Detroit Tigers this season are providing the Milwaukee Brewers with the spark which may carry them to the top of the American Association.

Yesterday they beat the league-leading St. Paul club 3-1 for the second straight time and Chet Laabs and Rudy York, given tryouts with Detroit this spring, were largely responsible for the win.

York didn't get a hit but he was on base when Laabs smashed a home run that ended a pitching duel between Milwaukee's Forrest Pressnell and John Rigney. Each club got only five hits.

The champion Minneapolis Millers, who Monday whipped Kansas City 24 to 10 in an orgy of base hits, had to take a 12 to 4 beating from the Blues. Kansas City collected 17 hits off three Miller hurlers. Dale Alexander, big first baseman, had four hits in five trips. Hargrave and Hauser hit homers for Minneapolis.

Louisville bunched three hits with two bases on balls in the sixth for all their runs to defeat Toledo in a night game, 3 to 2. Jim Peterson was the winning pitcher, allowing the Mudhens seven hits. Linton homered for Toledo and Rollings for the Colonels.

In another night game Columbus outhit Indianapolis, 10 to 8, but committed four errors to help the Indians win, 3 to 1, behind Page's steady pitching.

MARBLE TOURNAMENT WILL START MAY 25

Elimination Rounds Scheduled for Annual Event; School Pupils Under 15 Eligible.

Elimination rounds for the Marion city marble championship will begin Monday, May 25, it was announced today by Donald Cram, Y. M. C. A. physical director, who is directing the annual tournament. Pupils of all city elementary and junior high schools under the age of 15 will be eligible to enter the competition.

Preliminary events will be held throughout the city at the various schools under the direction of the NYA staff connected with the Y program. Following the selection of school champions, each will be eligible to enter the tournament finals at Central Junior High school, Thursday, May 28.

The mibs tourney last year attracted 150 entrants and with the improved set-up of selecting champions at each school it is anticipated that a larger number of contestants will take part. The city champ will be the recipient of a trophy offered by the Y. All matches are to be played immediately after school on the dates announced.

Three teams of Sunday School league No. 2 remain undefeated following second round games on city diamonds last night. Salem recorded its second victory of the season by trouncing Calvary, 17 to 3. St. Mary won over Christian, 9 to 7, in an eight-inning game, and the third unbeaten team, Epworth Bishops, were idle. Wesley bumped the United Brethren aggregation out of the undefeated ranks by a 14 to 3 score, to give both a .500 average.

One unfinished game is set for tonight when the Marion Merchants tangle with the Lawrence Farm Markets at the M. S. S. field. The two members of the Commercial loop completed their seven-inning league opener last week in a 9-9 tie.

The entire round of Sunday School league No. 1 games, postponed Monday night because of rain, will be played Wednesday night, May 27, Elmer Shaw, commission secretary, announced today. The teams will follow their original schedule.

It was the St. Mary hurler, Paulus, who pulled his game with the Christian team out of the fire. With the score 7-7 and one out in the eighth, he poled out a three-base hit to start the fireworks. Kelly duplicated and scored on Robbins' fly to left field. The two runs proved the margin of victory as St. Mary held its opponents scoreless in the last half of the eighth frame, and won 9-7.

Salem apparently had little trouble shoving 17 runs across the plate, holding Calvary to 3. Millisor, Salem mound ace, allowed only six hits, three of them in the final inning and permitted no scoring. His teammates, however, pounded out nearly everything Putman had to offer. Scoring early in the game, they tallied 15 runs in the first three innings.

Scoring 14 runs on 11 hits, Wesley held United Brethren to 3 tallies, and erased its defeat in the season opener last week. Barkley was the winning team's powerhouse, collecting four hits, including one three-bagger and two-base clout, in four trips to the plate. D. Tuttle's three-base hit, with two men on, gave United Brethren its only scores. Tuttle brought in the third tally, scoring from third on an infield bingle.

The Epworth Bishops were idle because of withdrawal of Waldo from the league. Score by innings follow:

GRID BROADCASTS TO BE DISCUSSED

Football and Track To Be Mixed at Big Ten Meet in Columbus.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 30—Football and track will be badly mixed in the Big Ten track meet this week-end, but through no fault of the trackmen themselves.

Three football coaches of major schools outside the conference will be here to dicker for games with Ohio State and other Western conference schools during the 1939 season. They are Elmer Layden of Notre Dame, Jock Sutherland of Pittsburgh, and Mat Stevens of New York university.

Other non-track meetings scheduled for the week-end include a discussion of the question, "Has a Big Ten school the right to sell its football broadcast privileges?" That comes Friday morning in a conclave of conference faculty representatives.

Getting back to track, Avery Brundage, president of the American Olympic association, will be looking over the talent for Olympic possibilities. He should get a good look—he is chairman of the finish judges.

Trout Bounty

By The Associated Press

SEWARD, Alaska — Fishermen in the states might well envy those they were in Alaska at this time of the year. Season Game officials urge fishermen to catch as many predatory trout as they can and also pay a bounty of 1½ cents for each trout caught. Several anglers have earned as much as $5 this season. Trout eradication assures a greater supply of salmon—one of Alaska's most important commercial exports.

Daily Pattern for Home Use

BY ANNE ADAMS

WEATHER: CLEAR AND WARMER

A FROCK: GAY AND COOLER

There is your lucky number if you're in search of simplicity, femininity and warm weather chic! Anne Adams has designed this festive afternoon frock for the clever miss or matron who is going to overcome the heat this summer instead of being overcome by it! Any sheer fabric, be it cotton or chiffon, or another of the popular sheers would be a perfect fabric choice. Tiny sun-ray darts allow generous bodice fullness while the slim-line skirt is slightly flared. You'll find the wide sleeves (puff them if you prefer) as gracefully flattering as the dainty round yoke. We know that you'll especially like the snappy button accents.

Pattern 2582 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 takes 4¼ yards 39 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number.

BE SURE TO STATE SIZE

Order your copy of our Anne Adams summer pattern book today! Learn how to make cool, smart clothes and plenty of them—for home wear, vacations, parties, play in the sun. See the special designs for stouts, the sturdy models for children, the latest frocks for bride and bridesmaids, the summer fabric news. Order this book now! Book fifteen cents. Pattern fifteen cents. Twenty-five cents for both, when ordered together.

DuPont, Westinghouse and American Can Lead Minor Upturn in Prices

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK May 20—The stock market loafed today in moderately higher territory

The list, however still paid little heed to favorable business news and the buying that appeared was attributed largely to floor traders

While there were scattered heavy spots still in evidence around the start of the fourth hour gains of fractions to a point were shown by du Pont Westinghouse American Can Bethlehem, Chrysler General Motors Western Union Consolidated Edison American Telephone Anaconda, International Nickel New York Central, Southern Pacific and Santa Fe

Bonds were narrow and quiet, as were the major commodities and leading foreign currencies

Coincident with the treasury's silver-buying agreement with China the imported white metal in New York was reduced ¼ of a cent an ounce to 44 cents Bar silver was down about as much in London

A recovery note was added by Iron Age which pointed out that the current demand for heavy steel products seems to be sufficient to offset reduced automotive requirements in the early summer

The review placed this week's mill operations at 68½ per cent of capacity a rate only slightly under the years high mark

Both the French franc and sterling were unchanged at the beginning of foreign exchange transactions the former at 6.55⅝ cents and the latter at $4.97

PRICE OF MAY WHEAT JUMPS IN CHICAGO

3 1-4 Cents Spurt in Late Dealings Follows Rumors of Month End Squeeze

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO May 20 — Prices of May wheat delivery in Chicago jumped 3¼ cents a bushel late today reaching the topmost point attained in several weeks

Suggestions of a possible market squeeze in month end settlements of May contracts were current and numerous traders who were short of supplies became anxious bidders The immediate reason however for soaring of prices was word that mills north west had become active purchasers of July delivery and that reports indicated less favorable crop prospects in spring wheat states

Wheat closed nervous ⅞@2¾ above yesterday's finish May 95@95¼ July 86¾@87¼ corn unchanged to ¼ higher May 63¾@⅞ oats unchanged to ¼ off and provisions varying from 12 cents decline to 5 cents advance

HOODLUMS IN 'TEENS GUILTY OF MURDER

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO May 20 — Two hoodlums still in their teens Emil Reck 19 and Michael Livingston 17 were convicted early today of the murder of Dr Silber C Peacock—a brutal crime that netted them $5 apiece

A criminal court jury rejected the prosecutor's plea for a death penalty in three hours of deliberation and fixed Reck's punishment at 199 years in prison and Livingston's at 30 years imprisonment.

Two other members of the gamin robbery gang—Durland Nash and Robert Goethe both 19—recently pleaded guilty in the slaying of the pediatrician and have started serving 199 year terms in the penitentiary

Dr Peacock was bludgeoned and shot when he resisted a holdup after being lured out on a spurious sick call last Jan 2

In final arguments yesterday Assistant States Attorney John Boyle declared

With the life blood running out of him Reck smashed his head and then like a scavenger went through his pockets Make them pay with their lives for that carnival of blood

DREAM OF BECOMING A DILLINGER FADES

Larceny Suspect Reported Indicted Following Series of Ohio Gem Robberies.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO May 20—What an associate at states attorney said was a gunman's dream of becoming a new John Dillinger and retiring from crime with a million dollars worth of loot was disturbed today by the prospect of trial on larceny and slaying charges

The Cook county grand jury was reported yesterday to have voted a larceny indictment against John Barton alias Al Brady named by Assistant States Attorney William Crawford as the dreamer Crawford said Barton held in Indianapolis on a charge of killing a policeman, hoped to settle down with an income of $1,000 a month

Also reported indicted were James Dahlmer described by police as Barton's lieutenant Jack Becker and his brother Robert accused of buying $50,000 worth of stolen jewelry from the gang William Masonick and George Kletter alleged by the state to have conducted negotiations between the gang and the Beckers

The state fixed the gang's total take in a series of Ohio jewelry store robberies at $101,000 but asserted the Beckers paid only $1,400 for the loot they were accused of buying and quoted Dahlmer as complaining that another gang robbed them of the remainder in Chicago

STREAM POLLUTION FOUGHT BY GOVERNOR

Davey Plans Washington Demonstration To Boost Legislation Program

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI O May 20—Gov Martin L Davey took the lead today in an effort to crystalize sentiment in Washington in favor of anti-stream pollution legislation which spokesmen claim would benefit seven states in the Ohio valley

In a telephone conversation with Hudson Biery chairman of a civic committee active in the fight Gov Davey said he had invited Gov A B Chandler of Kentucky and would invite Gov Paul V McNutt of Indiana to attend a conference here later this week to discuss plans for a demonstration in Washington May 29

Biery quoted the Ohio executive as saying Gov Chandler of Kentucky was "heartily in favor of the Washington trip, the object of which he said would be the enlistment of aid from all members of congress from the seven affected states Governors of Pennsylvania West Virginia Illinois and Tennessee would be asked to join

Action by the House yesterday of the Citron resolution as amended to include Ohio valley states was termed "good news" by Biery

The amendment would permit valley states to join an interstate treaty with Connecticut in the latter's pollution fight
